100-Foot Wall of Fire Sweeps Texas Tanker

19-Hour Battle To Save Oil Port

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A wall of fire, spread by a series of rumbling explosions, engulfed the tanker Amoco Virginia at her ship channel berth Sunday. The captain and six sailors were trapped and killed, 25 other persons were injured.

A city fireman was drowned this morning while cooling the ship with foamite. He apparently stepped into a hole in the submerged portion of the ship.

Investigators climbed over the buckled plates in search of clues to the cause of the blaze.

The fire broke out less than four hours before the American Oil Company's 12,000-ton tanker was to sail for Albany, N.Y.

The flames, feeding on 135,000 barrels of high-test gasoline and fuel oil in the vessel's bunkers, threatened the heart of the biggest oil refining and petrochemical centre in the United States for 19 hours before firemen brought it under control.

WALL OF FLAME
"It spread like a prairie fire," said seaman Joseph R. Daley. "As it spread, a solid wall of flames 100 feet high swept the ship."

More than 300 firemen battled the blaze. A blizzard of foam finally smothered the main fire in the tanker's forward bunkers—which had held 90,000 barrels of aviation-type gasoline.

Small fires continued to flicker on the vessel's superstructure and a pier alongside. It cast a rosy glow hours after dark. The blackened hull's deck plates buckled and its seams ripped.

Firemen found the body of Captain R. R. Combs at the foot of a ladder leading to his quarters. The bodies of four sailors were found in their quarters. Two others were found on deck.

FEAR DISASTER
Memories of the 1947 Texas city disaster that killed more than 500 persons prompted civil defence officials to alert the Texas state guard and order the evacuation of the immediate area.

Fire fighters ashore and aboard a lone fire boat applied water in the early stages before chemical extinguishers arrived. There would have been no hope for them if the ship had exploded and touched off fires in dozens of big oil storage tanks lining the north shore scant yards away.

Five explosions rocked the 540-foot tanker dock. The first came about 12.30 a.m., only minutes after the fire broke out.

FALL OVER CITY
Flames towered more than 200 feet high. Black, oily smoke mushroomed over the vessel and cast a pall over this Gulf Coast city of more than 900,000 for hours.

The final blast almost 12 hours later shot flames skyward again just as firemen appeared to have it under control. It pushed heat waves around the storage tanks on shore containing more than 1,000,000 gallons of highly explosive fuels.

SWIMMER HERO

Men in Sea Screamed For Help

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — "They were in the water, screaming for help, the flames were drifting down on them. No one would go to help them. So I thought 'What the hell?' and dived in."

Phil Olivier, a Houston ambulance driver, said he pulled three men from the water at the stern of the tanker Amoco Virginia, which blew up Sunday and killed seven men. Still shivering in his damp clothes, which he hadn't had time to change, Phil, a former junior Olympic swimmer and life guard, pointed to the stern of the blackened and broken tanker.

"One man was burned over a terrible amount of his body. Another had a head injury and one had his left side burned. They were all in their underclothes. They had been asleep when the fire broke out. They all said 'Thank you' for saving them."

Olivier said flames were spouting from the ship and everyone "kept saying 'She's going to blow any minute.' But no one would do anything. They wouldn't even try to save the men in the water."

Sahara Test No Danger U.S. Claims

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United States indicated today it believes the forthcoming French nuclear test in the Sahara Desert will not endanger neighboring areas.

In a cautiously-worded statement, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told the United Nations political committee that the U.S. carried out similar tests near heavily-populated centers without doing any damage.

Lodge neither endorsed nor opposed the French plan. Britain said earlier the bomb meant no menace to the African peoples.

The Soviet Union, scheduled to enter the debate later today, was expected to join Afro-Asian nations in denouncing the French project.

Five Workmen Killed

BOMBAY, India (Reuters) — Five workmen were killed and five others were injured today when 2,000 tons of earth and rock crashed down on them at the construction site of a new international airport near here.

Crew Fights to Save Blazing Ship at Sea

FUNCHAL, Madeira (UPI) — Crewmen aboard the New York bound Portuguese cargo ship Monte Brasil battled today to save the ship from a fiery death at sea. The 12 passengers were rescued Sunday but 30 crewmen remained aboard to fight a blaze.

A Portuguese warship reached the site of the 2,395-ton Monte Brasil and a Portuguese navy anti-torpedo vessel

The 7,000-ton vessel Arthur Stove of Oslo, rescued 12 passengers and some of the automobile cargo Sunday.

32 CLIMBERS ALL SAFE, NOT KILLED IN SLIDE

KATMANDU (UPI) — The Nepal government announced today that 32 members of a Japanese mountain-climbing team feared killed in an avalanche "are safe and are returning to Katmandu shortly."

The team members were reported en route to this capital city of Nepal with all members in good condition.

The 32 climbers were reported missing while trying to scale the sheer slopes of 23,440-foot Gauri Sankar peak west of Mount Everest in the Himalayas on the Nepal-Tibet border.

Poisoned Berries Scare U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Housewives were warned today three weeks before Thanksgiving that cranberries from Washington and Oregon may be contaminated with a cancer-producing agent from a chemical weed killer.

Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare, issued the warning at a news conference.

Flemming said the weed-killer, known as aminotriazole, produced cancer of the thyroid in experimental rats and that the public must use its discretion about buying the traditional Thanksgiving fare at this time.

He said the cancer-producing residues were found in the 1958 and 1959 crops from the two states.

At Hanson, Mass., president George Olsson of the National Cranberry Association said "people could eat tons" of aminotriazole "without being killed by it."

BARRELS STORED

But Olsson added that 30,000 barrels of cranberries valued at $360,000 had been "segregated and stored" pending further investigation.

Oregon state chemist J. D. Patterson said at Salem, Ore., that his laboratory was checking samples on the state's market to see if the weed-killer was present.

Washington State Agriculture Director Joe Dwyer ordered a similar analysis. He said at Olympia, Wash., that "much" of Washington's 1958 crop was being held up for chemical study and about half 30,000 barrels—from the 1957 crop had been destroyed last month.

Flemming said the weed killer known as aminotriazole produced cancer in the thyroid of rats in laboratory tests. There is no definite scientific evidence yet that it produces cancer in humans.

He said food and drug administration agents are conducting an on-the-spot investigation in other cranberry-growing states — Wisconsin, New Jersey and Massachusetts — to see if the dangerous weed killer had been used there.

Flemming also said investigation is under way on whether aminotriazole has been used on other food crops.

Some Victoria wholesalers who depend on the U.S. market for their supplies, said today they did not have any cranberries in stock from the two states at the present time.

They admitted that shipments of berries in the past have come from Oregon and Washington.

Wholesalers indicated that they would buy their cranberries elsewhere as the result of the warning.

Meanwhile, it was learned that Ottawa may take steps to ban infected berries from the United States.

Barbara Malpass, 20, was unmasked after masquerading as a 16-year-old boy for six months. She is shown (left) as Charles Williams and (right) as herself. During the six months that Barbara acted as a boy, she spent time in male jails in Colorado, Indiana, and Nebraska. It was finally in a Denver jail that she was found out.

'21' PRODUCER:

Fixed Quizzes 'A Good Show'

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Albert Freedman, producer of the quiz show "Twenty-One," today defended the defunct television program as good entertainment that made the mistake of being too successful.

"The only function of entertainment is to entertain," he said.

Freedman, indicted in New York, November 7, 1958, for perjury after denying the quiz show was rigged, said he came to Mexico City last June with his family "because I was unable to find employment at the time in the television industry due to all the adverse publicity."

"In the field of TV programming, saturated with murder and violence, it is my opinion that the quiz shows, as entertainment, were a breath of fresh air," he said.

"We thought it was good entertainment," he said. "After all, the quiz shows were not a public utility. We were not conducting civil service examinations. The public wasn't paying any admission prices to watch these programs. Financially, it made no difference to the public who won."

Lied to Protect 'Wonderful People'

Freedman said he denied the show was rigged because he wanted to "protect the private lives" of the many wonderful people who were contestants on the show.

"I feel that I had the same relationship to them as the doctor to his patient, as the newspaper man to his news source or the lawyer to his client."

Of the show, Freedman said: "There were times when a certain amount of control was necessary to sustain interest and suspense."

"The quiz shows have been accused of perpetrating a fraud and deception on the public. I do not agree with that accusation. The entertainment field, from time immemorial, has been based on showmanship, spectacle and illusion. The only function of entertainment is to entertain."

"Everyone knows that the magician doesn't saw the lady in half—that movies supposedly filmed in Egypt are actually shot in Hollywood studios."

"... Is it any surprise to the movie audience that the stunt men usually do the risky scenes for the Hollywood glamor men?"

"Is it any great shock to learn that important national figures generally hire 'ghost writers' to write their speeches, and in many instances even to write their books?"

"Discrepancies" in Van Doren Evidence
He said there were "significant discrepancies" in the testimony of Charles Van Doren, who told a congressional committee he was fed the answers and coached on mannerisms in winning $120,000 on Freedman's show.

Van Doren testified that he asked to go on the program without help but Freedman told him "that giving help to contestants was 'part of show business.'"

"Mr. Van Doren is a strong-minded and intelligent person and it was not necessary to force him into anything," Freedman said in his statement. "He claims that he was deceived. It is interesting to note that it was only at the time he received the subpoena that he came to the conclusion that he had been 'deceived.'"

Freedman was indicted a year ago on charges of having "knowingly lied" while testifying before the grand jury investigating quiz programs. District attorney Frank Hogan said last week that of the 150 or so witnesses at the investigation, probably only 50 told the truth, but so far only Freedman has been indicted.

Narcotics Trafficker Gets 10 Years

MONTREAL (CP) — Giuseppe Pepi Cotroni, who pleaded guilty last month to trafficking in narcotics with a black market value of $8,000,000, today was sentenced to 10 years in penitentiary, fined $60,000 and ordered to return $28,800 to United States federal agents who purchased heroin from him.

Cotroni still faces charges of conspiracy in the heroin case and with possession of stolen bonds from the $10 million robbery in Brockville, Ont. The bond case was scheduled to be heard Nov. 23.

Chou Invites Nehru To Discuss Dispute

WILD DRIVER KILLS THREE GIRLS IN ROW

BUERNE, The Netherlands (AP) — Three sisters—21, 19 and 18—stroled arm in arm with their fiancés Sunday night, along a roadside at 30-yard intervals. Each girl was on the outside.

Suddenly, from the darkness, a car sped by, striking the three girls one by one and killing them instantly.

The car roared on, leaving the men unscathed.

Police today traced the driver through a headlamp torn from his car by one of the bodies. They said he was 25 years old and had drunk five glasses of beer just before the tragedy.

Two Drown In Lake Tragedy

ALERT BAY (CP)—RCMP reported today the recovery of the bodies of a 39-year-old man and a 12-year boy from the waters of Nimkish Lake where they apparently drowned during the weekend.

Police identified the victims as Michael Protoczek, 39-year-old employee of the Canadian Forest Products logging operation in the area, and Robert Walker, 12.

Officers said the case was still being investigated.

Wife Stabs Bob Crosby

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—Police today said Bob Crosby was stabbed twice Saturday night by his wife June after he beat her to the floor during a family row.

Police Chief Clinton Anderson said Crosby was stabbed in the left shoulder and the left forearm with a four-inch letter opener. He said Crosby, who had been drinking earlier in the evening, became belligerent and struck his wife.

Defence Talks Open

WASHINGTON (CP) — Seven-man teams of Canadian and United States cabinet ministers Sunday began a confidential review of North American defence and the commitments of the two countries under the North Atlantic Treaty.

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Communist Chinese premier Chou En-lai today proposed creation of a 25-mile buffer zone to prevent further bloodshed along the disputed Indian-Red Chinese border.

He also suggested a meeting with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru in the "immediate future."

It was the first concrete Red Chinese proposal for settling the increasingly bitter border quarrel between the two nations.

Chou proposed that each country make a 12-mile withdrawal from the disputed McMahon Line dividing them in the Himalayas.

Indian sources said, however, that the Peking note reiterated Red Chinese claims to certain Indian territory which Nehru is pledged not to give up.

Nehru called his cabinet into session Sunday night, apparently to consider the Chinese note which was dispatched from Peking on Saturday. Also attending the three-hour cabinet meeting was Indian army commander K. S. Thimayya.

Indians 'to Meet Force With Force'

A source close to the cabinet said Thimayya had been ordered to meet Communist force with force, but not to begin an offensive.

Reliable sources said Nehru told a working committee of his Congress party that "the spirit of the Chinese letter is not bad" but there are practical difficulties requiring a careful military study.

The note from Chou En-lai was one of two whose contents were disclosed today by the New Delhi and Peking governments, whose relations with each other have deteriorated steadily under a barrage of charges and counter-charges.

The Chinese note said it was regrettable that India had adopted an attitude disregarding the facts.

India's note to Red China rejected as a "travesty of the truth" Chinese claims of Indian responsibility for the clash between Indian and Chinese troops Oct. 21 in the Ladakh-region of the border states of Jammu and Kashmir. Nine Indians were killed in the battle.

India accused China of aggressive attitudes "reminiscent of old imperialist powers" against whom both India and China struggled in the past.

"Where aggression takes place the people of India inevitably will have to resist by all means available to them," the note said.

'Panic Selling' Sends Uranium Stocks Down

TORONTO (CP) — Heavy selling hit the uranium section of the stock market today, resulting in big losses by most issues listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Brokers said most losses were caused by "panic selling." They said investors were disappointed by the government's announcement Friday night that it had been unable to get the Atomic Energy Commission of the United States to extend its contract with Canadian producers beyond 1962 and 1963.

The government agreed to allow Canadian producers to defer deliveries until 1966 and receive advance payment on the deferred deliveries.

Stocks of producing uranium companies were the hardest hit. Consolidated Denison lost $2 at $11 on a turnover of 21,000 shares in the first hour.

BALD CHESTS GET LIFT FROM FALSIES

A Shaggy Man Story

NEW YORK (AP)—Men, do you envy those hairy-chested he-men who stalk the beaches and pools under the admiring stares of the opposite sex?

Worry no more, hairless Joe. Toss away your turtle-neck beach-sweater—they've come up with chest hair falsies for men.

The latest in chest tapestries was unveiled Sunday at the opening session of the National Barber Show.

Who wears chest rugs? "Usually, little scrawny fellows," answers pretty Diana Tessier, president of a hair making firm. "I never ask my clients why they want them. I figure it's their own business."

The preferred shade: brown. "The people at the barber show came to me and suggested we make up a chest falsie as a stunt," Miss Tessier said. "But I said, 'stunt? I have many customers using them already.' They seemed surprised."

Miss Tessier, whose main business is toupees—or top-headers, as they say in the trade—uses real hair for the chest rugs. She added:

"They look like the real thing. We have no complaints."

Another new item on display was a synthetic sun tan lotion guaranteed to make the wearer look as if he has just returned from three weeks at Miami or Palm Springs.

New York barber Eddie Pulaski said the degree of phony tan is regulated by the number of applications of the cosmetic.

"One coat gives you a light tan, two coats a deep tan, and with three coats we give you a white turban."

Main trouble with the TV scandal is that not every body thinks it's scandalous.

Both India and China seem ready to repel borders.

Apparently the Pacific rocket is holdin' its nose.

'THE TIGER' IN MOUNTAINS

Peron Guerrilla Plot Bared

TUCUMAN, Argentina (AP) — A raid on an armed camp in the mountains, police say, has uncovered a plot by followers of Juan D. Peron for a Castro-type guerrilla campaign to restore the exiled dictator to power.

Three youths were captured in the raid by 30 policemen Saturday on the well-armed camp in the mountains near this trading centre.

The youths said they were recruited by a newly-organized "National Peronista Recuperation Movement" which has plans to wage guerrilla warfare against the government of President Arturo Frondizi.

The police believe the youths were only guards, and that most of the conspirators escaped. They arrested several well-known admirers of Peron in Tucuman Sunday.

While Peron's followers have been blamed for terrorist activity, this was the first sign they might be preparing for guerrilla warfare. Peron was overthrown in September, 1955. Now in exile in the Dominican Republic, he proclaims he will eventually come back.

The captured youths said their chief is known as "the Tiger" and that they were awaiting word from him to begin guerrilla operations.

The three captives indicated there were several other camps in the immediate area and others in more isolated mountainous sections.

Police said the camp was stocked with provisions for 50 men as well as arms, ammunition, explosives stolen from military installations and other supplies, including books on military tactics.

COMMUNICATIONS TOO SLOW

Air Defences 'Not Effective'

OTTAWA (CF)—Air Commodore E.C. Poole, chief of RCAF telecommunications, said today that North American air defence cannot now be carried out effectively.

In a speech to the Canadian Preparedness Association here, he said the current manual system of handling air defence information is too slow.

"This manual system has been developed to a point good enough to handle propeller-driven aircraft.

"The problem today is that we rarely have to deal with propeller-driven aircraft. We have to deal with jet aircraft.

TIME CUT DOWN

"The real significance of this is that since the speed of aircraft has doubled and tripled, the time available to undertake air defence operations has been reduced by a factor of two or three or even more.

"The old ways of doing things on the ground are not fast enough to deal with the situation in the air.

"By experience we have found that we cannot, in the present system, handle all the information that we have to, and work out all the problems necessary to carry out effective air defence against modern weapons."

NEW CONTROLS

Air Commodore Poole said the ground control system of air defence will have to be made partly automatic and that this will be done by introduction of SAGE (semi-automatic ground environment).

He said some 30 SAGE computer centres will be required to cover North America but did not say how many will be built in Canada or when.

It is understood that one SAGE unit will be installed at Northern Bay, Ont., in 1960 or 1963.

Huge Effort To Get Steel Mills Rolling

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Major producers edged the first small shipments of finished steel into delivery channels today—two days after an 80-day injunction halted the longest strike in steel industry history.

The early shipments—gatherings of what was left behind when the 116-day strike began—meant little to customers already hurt by shortages. It will be weeks before newly produced steel moves in significant amounts.

Thousands of the 500,000 strikers were called back to work during the weekend. Thousands more expected recalls early this week.

Throughout the industry there was a gigantic effort to get all facilities producing. Customers—many closed because of steel shortages—pressed for speedy deliveries.

Secretary of Labor James M. Mitchell, in a television appearance Sunday night, said it will be up to Congress to keep the mills operating beyond January 25 if a labor agreement still is beyond reach.

Mitchell said that President Eisenhower would be ready promptly with recommendations to the lawmakers if the strike is resumed.

No industry union negotiations were scheduled.

LABORITE HITS STEEL STRIKE STAND BY IKE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Union leader Walter P. Reuther said Saturday the Eisenhower administration has shown favoritism on the side of industry in the steel strike.

"Throughout the pre-strike period and the strike itself," Reuther said, "the weight of the administration was thrown upon the side of industry."

President Eisenhower has said repeatedly he was taking no sides in the steel wage dispute. Time and again he urged industry and the steelworkers' union to work out a peaceful, non-inflationary settlement.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, did not give particulars in support of his charges of favoritism.

INDEPENDENT VISIT FOLLOWS UN REPORT

Dag Going to See Laos for Himself

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United Nations announced Sunday night that Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld will leave Tuesday for a visit to Laos, the Southeast Asian kingdom that claims it is a victim of Communist aggression.

Hammarskjöld seeks to obtain "independent and full personal knowledge of the problem," a UN spokesman said. Hammarskjöld reached this decision Saturday and informed members of the Security Council by letter before the public announcement was made. A Security Council subcommittee comprising Argentina, Italy, Japan and Tunisia undertook a month-long on-the-spot study of the Laotian situation and reported last Thursday that rebels there received supplies from Communist North Viet Nam.

But the report added: "The ensemble of information submitted to the committee did not clearly establish whether there were crossings of the frontier by regular troops" from the Communist country.

Hammarskjöld has held talks in the last few days with U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Vasily V. Kuznetsov, Soviet deputy foreign minister, but the UN spokesman stressed Sunday that his mission to Laos is strictly on his own initiative.

COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITED
55 YONGE STREET, TORONTO

Modern, nickel-containing stainless steel buildings—like The Prudential Insurance Company of America offices now under construction in downtown Toronto—are changing Canada's skyline. In designing these new structures, Canada's leading architects are using stainless steel for the bright beauty of outside walls and trim, window frames, doors and smart, modern entranceways—the interior hardware, stair railings and ornamental accessories.

Stainless steel is an ideal architectural metal. It resists corrosion from the atmosphere and the weather... tends to wash itself clean with every rainfall. It won't crack, chip or deteriorate—stays bright for years with little or no cleaning or maintenance. And it harmonizes beautifully with stone, wood, glass and enamelled surfaces to produce striking architectural effects.

Nickel does great things for stainless—strengthens it... increases its resistance to rust and corrosion... makes it easier to fabricate. That's why Canadian architects, designers and manufacturers are specifying stainless steel containing quality Inco Nickel in architectural products.

Now under construction at the corner of King and Yonge Streets in downtown Toronto, the new prestige 20-storey Canadian home of The Prudential Insurance Company of America will have stainless steel exterior facings and window frames... owner, Twinn Investments Limited; architects, Page & Steele and Peter Dickinson Associates.

Inviting Legal Persuasion

THE U.S. SUPREME COURT has upheld application of the Taft-Hartley law in the major test presented by the steel strike. In one sense Saturday's decision gives labor-management negotiations another chance to achieve a settlement without governmental intervention. In another it increases the likelihood that further federal legislation may be passed to avoid future country-wide industrial tie-ups.

Six months of fruitless negotiation, nearly seven weeks of strike and an estimated $6 billions of overall loss lie behind the workers who will now return to the job. To the steelmen's ranks of 500,000 were added another half-million workers in dependent industries.

The strike created a situation which the Court of Appeals found "endangered national health or safety." This was a condition which under the Taft-Hartley law called for an injunction, that is, an 80-day period in which striking workers would return to work while negotiations proceeded and a government committee made a report on management's latest offer. This offer must then be voted on by the workers and the strike resumed or abandoned as indicated.

The union had appealed the Court of Appeals ruling, but the Supreme Court has upheld the injunction.

One reason for union objection to the injunction was said to be that the industry was feeling the pinch of stalled production and was expected to capitulate at any moment. The 80-day resumption of work would give management support in delaying settlement.

This point had also been raised in a dissenting opinion in the Court of Appeals, which claimed an injunction would defeat the intent of the legislation to reach an early settlement, since it would relieve the economic pressure on both sides.

Without the injunction, however, and a continuation of the strike, the national situation would soon have reached a point where government action would have been necessary. Already there was talk of legislation to enforce compulsory arbitration. A growing crisis could have precipitated a demand for such action. To this extent, then, the injunction preserves the opportunity for management and labor to reach a settlement without outside interference.

Application of the law, however, has brought to Congressional attention certain deficiencies in the legislation. Some authorities feel that for proper protection the law should be strengthened, even to the point of compulsory arbitration.

Prior to the Supreme Court order, the U.S. Secretary of Commerce, Frank H. Mueller, had indicated that the Administration would try through legislation to keep the men at work once they returned under orders. "We simply cannot permit a resumption of the strike," he said. A good deal of public opinion would support that.

Prospects for successful negotiation in the next 80 days are not bright. Although two or three small steel companies have met the union demands regarding wage increases and working conditions, they represent less than five per cent of the national production. The Big Twelve producers — although Kaiser has signed the union agreement — still account for some 85 per cent of the country's output.

The unions hold that their demands regarding work rules — the principal stumbling block — are crucial. Relief periods, assignment of work crews and other considerations are under debate. Management charges "loafing and feather-bedding." The wages section of the dispute is cloaked in estimates and counter-estimates which are contradictory and baffled even the governmental enquiry committee.

The unions are returning to work reluctantly, and appear ready to resume the strike next February if necessary. The companies, for their part, report profits for the first nine months of this year were over those for 1958. They say they will not be pushed into an unfavorable agreement.

This has been a record strike in size and length. Failing compromise by both sides, it could prove to be the last to go this far without a government-enforced settlement.

National Gallery Crackup

THE NEWS FROM CANADA'S National Art Gallery is almost all bad. The recent resignation of the venerable trustee, Frederick Cleveland Morgan, follows closely the departure of the highly-regarded director, Alan Jarvis. The Gallery budget for purchase of new pictures — $130,000 a year under the Liberal regime — has been hacked away until this year it is projected at only $25,000.

What is most disturbing is the "manner of going" of Mr. Morgan, who had been a patron of Montreal's Museum of Fine Arts for 35 years. Mr. Morgan quit because Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough, to whom the Gallery reports, had appointed as Chairman (without advising the other trustees) a Quebec engineer who frankly admitted that he wasn't equipped to do the job.

To take Mr. Morgan's place, Mrs. Fairclough appointed a landscape artist of the third rank. He will sit with another painter, Lauren Harris of Vancouver, whose disgusted comment has been: "Conservative Governments have never shown any interest whatever in art."

I'm staying on until they kick me off."

There is more to this statement than meets the eye. Trustees have met with such open hostility from their new employers that they believe it is Government policy to make their positions untenable so that they will resign, thus opening up appointments for persons of more sympathetic political persuasions.

Coupled with the astonishing defection of the Government from a commitment to buy $400,000 worth of art treasures abroad — which gave this country a black eye among the world's dealers — the recent resignations indicate a rapid erosion of National Gallery principles and standards. There was a time, not long ago, when Canada seemed to be emerging from its role as wood-chopper and water-carrier to the world. We had begun to show other nations that we were concerned with things of the spirit, as well as matter.

The destruction of our National Gallery, now in full train, should be regarded with dismay by every thinking Canadian.

Something New in Red Square

THE UNPRECEDENTED appearance of an exhibit of sports cars in the annual Red Square parade in Moscow may have indicated as much as anything the new trend in Russia's ambitions.

The military part of the parade lasted only 20 minutes, the shortest on record. Civilian activities made up the bulk of the great display — a reflection perhaps of the Soviet ambition to out-produce its opponents rather than out-fight them.

In previous years the Russians have used the giant rally to show off their latest developments in weapons. New guns, tanks, planes and other equipment were usually given a public viewing.

Last Saturday's display was in keeping with Mr. Khrushchev's recent proposal for total world disarmament. It was a hopeful sign — when the world needs hopeful signs — that even though the Soviet Union intends to keep up its armaments in the meantime, the accent now is on peacetime production and an international climate which will aid it.

Not an Acquired Taste

FEW CONSUMERS GIVE MUCH attention to the protection afforded by our pure food laws, yet everyone is indebted to them. A relatively few years ago the public had no protection against adulteration of foods, even when the adulterants were poisonous substances. Now almost every food product must measure up to high standards.

In this we are much more fortunate than some countries. A news item from Morocco reports that nearly 10,000 persons have been poisoned through using cooking oil that had been adulterated with aircraft lubricant. The aero engine oil had been mixed into low-grade olive oil and sold for food purposes. Fortunately no deaths have yet occurred.

Morocco is now moving to introduce the death penalty for such tampering with food. That is late but drastic. However, the incident is a measure of what can happen when the public lacks protection.

THIS ABOVE ALL . . .

By B. A. TOBIN

Let's Not Lose the Picture

WHILE the United States is in a great buzz about the TV quiz scandal, Canadians are having their own arguments about television, particularly as regards how much Canadian content there should be in Canadian programs.

The Board of Broadcast Governors set the wheels whirling with a proposal that the Canadian content be at least 55 per cent — to apply to all the existing TV stations and the new ones that will soon be established through the double-outlet plan for the larger cities. The U.S. quiz blow-up comes very opportunely while we are trying to decide what we should see on our TV screens. We may not know exactly what we want, but we're getting a better idea of what we don't want.

The 55 per cent proposal of the board raised a storm among private TV men, and even the CBC objected. While a high content of Canadian programs is what this country needs to counteract the flood of American TV from over the border — a flood which laps at the living room walls of 60 per cent of Canadian homes, it is said — there are other factors to be considered.

Talent Supply

One factor is, where are you going to get enough top talent — writers, speakers, actors, musicians, performers, movies, and so on? Another is, how are you going to make your audience watch your program?

If the Canadian program isn't attractive, if you had to put some inferior thing together just to make up the home-grown quota for the week, your potential viewers will dive into that American flood as fast as they can twist their TV dials.

So merely having it telecast out of the studio isn't the answer. This is a straight case of ideals versus practicalities, and there's going to have to be a compromise.

The Board of Broadcast Governors is now wrestling with this problem and we should know in a few days or weeks what the answer will be. Private TV men advocate that for the first year or so the Canadian content of programs should be 35 per cent, moving up to 40 and 45 per cent in succeeding years. Or it might be set at half the domestic content of CBC programs, which is well above 50 per cent now.

Difficult Situation

Whatever the answer is, it will affect a good section of the Canadian public. We're in a unique position in regard to our TV and radio, and it presents us with a unique problem.

We're a nation of 17 millions, mostly living along the border of a neighbor with ten times that many people, speaking the same language. How do we avoid being swamped with our neighbors' ideas, ideals, ambitions, attitude to life and manner of achieving it? We already had American literature and movies and radio to contend with. Now American TV moves right in on the living room rug with us.

Britain is next to the whole continent of Europe, but it doesn't have the same problem. When British TV viewers get bored with British programs they tune in French stations. But there isn't any danger they will become Frenchmen. There is a danger that Canadians may become Americans.

The other extreme is almost as bad. In an effort to resist the American influence we could easily become shrill, egocentric Canadian jingoists, beating our own drum incessantly in order to drown out the American band. We could become chip-on-the-shoulder nationalists, like the little fellow who picks a fight with the big one just to prove he isn't afraid.

Easy Way

It would be easy to give in and absorb so much Americanization that we'd become indistinguishable from our neighbors. It would be almost as easy to get on our high horse and become impossible prigs.

It will be a long, difficult job to walk the middle road, develop our own standards, customs and manner of living, influenced but not dominated by what is around us.

We have two big aids in setting that course: Our British and French heritages. Added to these is a certain reserve of temperament which we ourselves don't notice especially but which seems evident to foreigners.

We, as Canadians, should get more history in our schools, not just as so many academic credits or as items of information to carry around with us, but as a built-in guarantee that we can preserve our "personality" against the one-to-ten odds.

We should become more widely bilingual — another job for the provinces to undertake.

The Safeguards

We should become more critical: Whether it's a new theory of education, a new gadget for the car, a new form of humor, a new labor law or a new way to do our hair — it isn't good just because it comes from the United States. We should make it prove itself against our own Canadian standards before we accept it.

That way we'll borrow only from the best, and save ourselves a lot of backtracking when the originators find the new idea wasn't so good after all — as with phony quiz programs, for instance.

Above all we shouldn't fall for the huckster-ethic, the dollar-duplicity of this era. There used to be a principle that "if it is good it will sell." Now that seems to have become "if it will sell it is good."

Nationalism shouldn't be the only criterion for TV, or for goods or for living. But neither should money.

LAND OF JOBS FOR ALL

Bonn: Full Speed Ahead

This is a second article on conditions in Europe, written for The Times by Fred Manor, a Canadian newsmen who has just returned from a visit to France and West Germany.

"BE kind to our waiters, they are harder to get than new customers," said the notice on a restaurant outside Bonn. It might have been tongue-in-cheek, but it illustrated the top problem in West Germany: the acute manpower shortage. Despite the steady influx of refugees, despite the fact that every fourth person in the Federal Republic is either a refugee or an expellee, both industry and trade are crying out for more manpower. In newly-built hotels young girls carry the guests' suitcases because there are no porters available. Stocked refrigerators placed in hotel rooms obviate room service for which there are no waiters.

Unemployment stands at under one per cent of the working force, and a skilled worker from the East, be he a German, Czech, or Yugoslav, will be snatched up within 24 hours after he has emerged from security processing.

Greatest Asset

Immigration, forced or voluntary, has proved West Germany's greatest asset. Without the brains and the brawn of the newcomers West Germany would hardly be basking in its present prosperity.

"Our aim is to turn each welfare case into a taxpayer as fast as possible," I was told at the Bonn ministry for refugees. And the success with which this transformation is carried out is truly remarkable.

Integration cannot, of course, be decreed by law. Some succeed better than others. Obviously, an unmarried, young, skilled worker has better prospect of an early employment than a middle-aged farmer who arrives laden with wife, six children and an ailing mother-in-law.

But all this notwithstanding, out of the 9,300,000 expellees and 3,500,000 refugees, only 350,000 have remained in camps. This is a figure corresponding to the annual influx of refugees from the Soviet zone of Germany.

Moreover, West Germany, with a population of 54,000,000 squeezed in an area of 96,000 square miles, took 32,000 Hungarian refugees — as against 36,000 accepted by Canada.

Same Rights

The last Displaced Persons' camps in West Germany are being dissolved with the hard-core cases placed in German institutions. Otherwise, all non-German refugees were granted the same rights as Germans as well as the right to apply for German citizenship, which many do.

The integration of such a vast number of newcomers is an enormous achievement. It is as if all the 10,000,000 Australians were forced to return to Britain, and one has to bear in mind that the expellees and refugees returned to a war-devastated Germany, its cities reduced to rubble, its industries dismantled.

How different is the aspect of Germany today. I was shown new flourishing industries in Bavaria, once a poor province that lived largely from its tourist industry. Between 1949 and 1955 the Bavarian government invested the equivalent of $100,000,000 for industrial and trade loans to refugees and expellees.

WHO CAUSED IT?

Facts on 'Tight Money'

From The Winnipeg Free Press

THERE are indications that "tight" money and high interest rates which hurt everyone — the taxpayers, perhaps, most of all — are strange, mysterious, occult things, incapable of explanation.

This is not so. Anyone with even a nodding acquaintance with the statistics issued weekly, monthly and annually by the Bank of Canada and the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, will have no difficulty in discovering all the facts. There is no dispute here. Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Fleming merely ignore these facts and hope that the public will never discover them.

Given a word of explanation, the facts can be presented in simple tabu-

This was in addition to loans granted for housing.

Today the loans are bearing a net tax intake of $40,000,000 a year — a very sound investment indeed. Chemical industries, the Gabszoni costume jewelry industries, and similar plants that had once flourished in the border areas of Czechoslovakia, have been built up here by their expellee proprietors, largely with the old personnel gathered from camps all over Germany.

The once sleepy villages of Bavaria resound with the hum of machines, and the narrow crooked streets of the little towns are permanently jammed with motor traffic of every description, from factory trucks to the workers' bubble cars and light motorcycles.

Only Miracle

"The only miracle in German prosperity is the fact that the Germans, after two inflations had wiped out their savings, have been saving again an average of one-tenth of their income," an economist told me. Manpower and thrift are thus the two foundations upon which German economy has been rebuilt.

There remains the question of political influence wielded by the refugees. There is, of course, a world of difference between the expellees who had to leave, and the refugees who chose to leave. However, it would be fallacious to assume that all refugees escaped for political reasons.

I was shown a young 18-year-old waiter employed in the restaurant of the Bonn Parliament. He had escaped from East Germany only a week earlier. Why? "We wanted to go to Prague, but the Communist authorities would not let us. So we got fed up, decided that we wanted to see the world, and crossed the line."

Return Home

The expellees naturally cling to the abstract idea of going back. A Gallup poll carried out this year among Silesian expellees brought out the answer that 60 per cent of them would want to go back home. However, the value of such polls is highly questionable.

It is, of course, the proper thing for an expellee, when stopped in the street and asked whether he wanted to return home, to answer in the affirmative. It does not cost anything. If the answer meant that he would also have to pack up, leave his job, his new apartment, and the amenities of Western Germany and return east as a farmer or a landless agricultural laborer that he once was, the result of such polls would be vastly different.

Today, to most Germans, and these include the expellees and refugees, reunification is a distant, desirable goal whose achievement, however, must not prejudice the existence of a free and prosperous Western Germany.

Bargaining Counter

As to the regions beyond the Oder-Neisse, these are considered, at best, as a useful bargaining counter in future peace conferences. But it is openly recognized that a few years hence the counter may be worthless, and many within Chancellor Adenauer's Christian Democratic party are beginning to realize that a friendship with Poland now may be worth more than a distant hope of scoring juridical points.

Some party officials would not be averse to more Western pressure for the recognition of the Oder-Neisse frontier. It would be a convenient way for the party to get away from a position which, as many privately acknowledge, has become largely unrealistic.

	18 months ended June 30, 1957	18 months ended June 30, 1959, Conservative period
	($'000)	($'000)
Federal Government	$ -1,099	$ +1,722
Provinces	+ 764	+ 877
Municipalities	+ 331	+ 498
Corporations (bonds, stocks, finance corp., trustee and other bonds)	+2,652	+1,313
Bank loans	+ 570	+ 576
	$ +3,218	$ +4,986

In the Liberal period, the peak of the Bank of Canada discount rate was 4.06 per cent, reached in two weeks — one in February and the other in June, 1957. The peak in the Conservative period was on June 17 last — 5.47 per cent. The rate later rose even higher to 6.41 per cent on August 12, and since then has declined slightly.

The bank rate is taken because it reveals clearly the general level of interest rates. It functions in this regard exactly as does a thermometer to the temperature.

Many highly interesting facts emerge from the foregoing figures. The cause of "tight" money today is clearly exposed — the huge deficits of the Diefenbaker Government. In the Liberal period the St. Laurent Government paid off $1,009 millions of public debt, thereby vastly increasing the pool of money available for investment elsewhere. In the Conservative period, the Diefenbaker Government borrowed $1,722 millions. Here is the great difference between the two periods. Because of Conservative spending, the demand for money by the Federal Government increased in comparing the two periods, by more than $2,800 millions. This is the huge gulp of money which has drained the pool and forced interest rates to heights not reached even in the First or Second World Wars.

Mr. Diefenbaker's talk about the chartered banks, as the figures prove, is pure poppycock, devoid of truth. So are Mr. Fleming's statements about the great increase in the demand of businessmen for credit. The rate of increase in bank loans is practically unchanged while the rate of borrowing by corporations, etc., is only half as great as in 1956-57.

There is here a rather brazen attempt to fool the public, to place the blame on innocent shoulders.

Wasters?

LAST night, I was talking to an elderly friend of mine.

"It's little cardboard boxes, Ruth," she said. "The cupboard in my study is full of darling little cardboard boxes. I've been saving them up for years. Christmas card boxes, a lot of them are. There'll be more coming soon, so I'll have to harden myself, and throw some of these away. It's such a wicked waste."

Ruth

"What about those lovely plastic pill containers from the drug-store?" I asked.

She moaned slightly. "I love them. Much too good to throw away."

"Dear little medicine bottles with the measurements marked on them?" I asked, being in a sadistic mood.

"Don't go on, dear," she said. "I was brought up to think that waste was wicked. But, somehow, these days one can't help it. Things don't last the way they used to. They want to keep us buying, I suppose."

This friend and I were joking mostly. But, fooling apart, I'd like to know how much waste goes on in Canadian homes. And, by waste, I don't mean waste of money so much as waste of material.

I'd like to know whether the switch from rural to urban living has increased this waste. Is the number of working wives linked to the amount of material we consume? Does a faster tempo of living have any effect upon our consuming habits?

The story of the woollen rags brings in almost all the points I've raised.

In one farm family I know, woollen rags were always washed and saved and sent to a firm which made them into work socks, blankets and bathing for comforters. The cash saving wasn't enormous, so I understand, but it pleased the mother of that family to know that good wool was being salvaged and used again.

Now, however, she has a job in the city. She's too busy to save woollens any more. She's too busy even to save them for some club that sends woollens to be re-woven.

Now let's consider the family that's buying milk in cartons and throwing them away. Isn't this actually a form of waste? From a natural resources viewpoint, aren't these new cartons more costly than bottles ever were?

What about the paper rubbish that every housewife has to throw out constantly? I, for instance, am always burning paper that's mostly advertising or fancy packaging—flyers from rival supermarkets, impassioned pleas from magazine publishers, chatty little pseudo-personal notes from business firms I've never heard of. Surely the rubbish that fills our mailboxes, and then our trash cans, comes in greater quantities than it did five or 10 years ago? And paper, I believe, comes from trees.

What about all these canned foods? How many pounds or tons of actual metal pass through a big supermarket in a year? Aren't the discarded cans 100 per cent waste? If we were a truly provident people, would we feel happy about such waste of one of the world's non-renewable resources?

What do people of less fortunate countries think of the waste on this continent? I'd dearly love to get an intelligent housewife's point of view. Any New Canadian care to comment on our lack of thrift?

We're living high, I know. But we're merely prancing down a trail of wicked, senseless waste.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

It's Still a Mystery

LONDON — A married couple has returned from a motoring tour of the continent with an extraordinary story.

With them on the trip was the wife's aged mother and when they got into Spain they stopped by a beach for the couple to have a swim. Returning from the beach to the car, where the old lady had been sitting watching them, they found that she had died of a stroke.

Not knowing any Spanish they drove at once, with the body covered up in the back of the car, to the nearest town where there was a British consul.

They went into his office and told him the situation. Then when they came out again they found the car had been stolen. And that was the last they heard of it and its dead occupant.

This story was published in the Daily Telegraph and the interesting thing is that it is complete hogwash.

Other London papers were quick to point out that that one had been around for quite a while.

I know I've come across it before, to my sorrow.

Three years ago my mother told me about it in a letter. That time, however, it was supposed to have happened to a New Zealand couple touring Italy.

I thought it was a fascinating news item. So much so that I felt it would be a dandy plot for a novel.

Instead of a married couple I'd have a young Canadian, over on a visit to England to see his wealthy aunt. She was so taken with the young man whom she hadn't seen since he was a toddler that she decided to leave all her money to him in her will.

Before his return to Canada she makes him a gift of a car, in which they set off on a tour of the continent as the final part of his holiday. In Italy she dies in the car and it is stolen. And here's the twist—a murder motive. Nobody will believe his story. It's assumed he did away with her to cash in at once on the will.

I even had the title—Parting Gift—and it was going fine. I was 40,000 words into it, when an acquaintance said: "Oh, that old plot. I've read it not once but twice in mystery magazines."

Auditorium Push Pledged By Proudfoot

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot announced over the weekend that he will stand for re-election to a second term on the city council, December 10.

His platform planks include promises to work for: a civic auditorium; dredging of the Inner Harbor and strengthening of the Causeway wall; a soundly-based maintenance fund for Ross Bay Cemetery to have city taxpayers $250,000; provincial government grants in lieu of taxes on its property; compensation for city land used by the Greater Victoria School Board; collection of water bills at some stores, and a greater Victoria health board.

He is the second incumbent to announce his candidacy. Ald. M. H. Mooney also formally has thrown his hat into the ring. Ald. Geoffrey Edgell and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson are expected to run again but have not made official announcements.

Other candidates already in the field for the four expiring aldermanic seats are Alan Bigelow, Bruce Passmore, John D. Carlow, Victor Williams and Elgin Neish.

'Sore All Over' Says Hotelman After Crash-Landing His Plane

(From Duncan Bureau)

CHEMAINUS — A Nanaimo hotel proprietor walked away from a plane crash near Chemainus late Sunday afternoon with nothing more than a few bumps, bruises and cuts.

Angus McKinnon, flying a rented Fleet Canuck 130 monoplane, was returning to Cassidy airport near Nanaimo on a flight from Hope when he became low on fuel over North Chemainus.

With darkness and fog closing in and only about 10 minutes fuel left, he spotted an open field on the property of farmer Alec Porter just off Old Victoria Road. Trying to land, he overshot the field.

The plane hurtled a fence and driveway and slammed into dense second growth trees on the northwest section of property owned by Porter's neighbor, Norman Work.

The trees caught the left wing of the light plane, owned by Cassidy Services Ltd., and spun it around. It ended up on its nose, leaning forward against the trees. The left wing was crumpled and the forward section of the plane and cockpit badly smashed.

McKinnon crawled out of the smashed cockpit by himself and was treated by a doctor for hand and facial cuts.

"MIGHTY LUCKY"

Contacted in Nanaimo at his hotel this morning, McKinnon agreed he was "mighty lucky" to come out of the crash with only a few cuts and bruises.

He said he was "sore all over."

He has been flying for six years and it was his first crash.

RCMP in Chemainus said department of transport officials have been notified of the crash.

he was asked for six similar houses, which he built, and these led to orders from as far as Parksville for an additional 12. He expects to build 100 of the little houses, each with a duroid roof, locking front door, and glass windows. Costs will range from $149 to $198.

Halting of NHA loans suspended building at the new Centennial Heights subdivision where Mr. Wall had planned to build $200,000 worth of houses. With no work foreseen until next spring, he expects to keep his crew together by building the playhouses.

WONDERFUL

The above word came to mind when I was thinking of our latest Hearing-Aids and Hearing Glasses. They really are wonderful.

Twenty-one years ago, when we started the Victoria Hearing-Aid Company, we thought the hearing aids were wonderful too; but at one time so was the Model T Ford and before that the Horse and Buggy. Time Marches On.

Come to the office for a free test and realize for yourself the wonderful improvement in our hearing aids and how much help they can provide. If you are not able to call at the office I will be pleased to call on you by appointment.

SYNOPSIS: Fog has been extensive on the lower coast overnight but some air movement this morning is beginning to lift it to low cloudiness and the sun should appear in most areas this afternoon. In most respects there will be little change in today's weather from that of Sunday. However a surge of cooler air now entering the northern part of the province is bringing some decrease in cloudiness to that area today. Further cooling in the northern interior will give a few snowflurries to night. In general a cooler trend is indicated for Tuesday. With a change of air mass on its way from the north fog should not be a problem on the south coast tonight.

It will be open to all members of the public living in the present school area south of the Esquimalt electoral riding boundary.

Guest of Honor Pays for Stag

NANAIMO—Thomas Edward Sullivan, guest of honor at a stag party, came to grief in police court Friday when he was fined $125 in police court for driving while impaired after the party.

He was prohibited from driving until Feb. 1.

Sullivan, a truck driver, was to be married Saturday.

Michael Wovchuk, who pleaded guilty to his second impaired driving offence, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and was banned from driving for a year.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Seldom-in-the-Sun Corners

Corners of the garden which receive little sun are frequently left untended and unsightly, yet there are attractive plants which require exactly such a location.

Before choosing the plants, it might be a good idea to dig over the soil thoroughly to find out its possibilities.

It is quite likely to be heavy with a clay base, and the best treatment is a load of rotted compost to incorporate with it. Sometimes it is advisable to remove an equal amount of the heavier soil before bringing in new.

Shrubs for the darkest corner are not too difficult to find. The shiny, evergreen foliage of either aucuba (Gold-Spot), skimmia or Portuguese Laurel will be a pleasure at all seasons.

A few of the finer woodland ferns will make a pleasant ground cover.

For a corner which receives good light and even an hour or two of sunlight for part of the year, an underplanting for one or all of these shrubs could be made of Lily-of-the-valley, the native maiden-hair fern and the Christmas-roses (Helleborus niger).

Flowering shrubs which will enjoy a partially shaded corner are some of the—large leaved rhododendrons with enormous heads of lovely flowers; the evergreen shrub Pieris floribunda with its drooping sprays of white bells, and the early spring flowering yellow Kerria japonica.

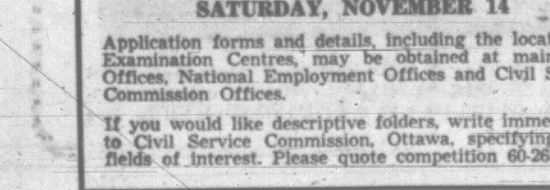

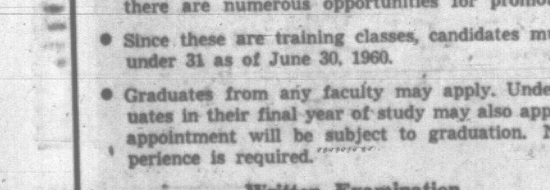

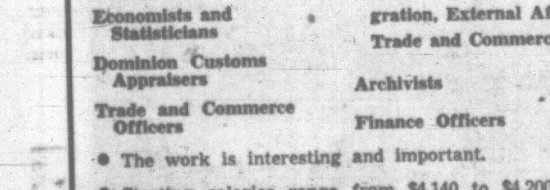

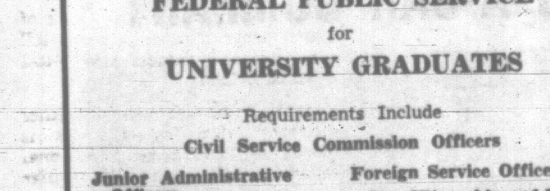

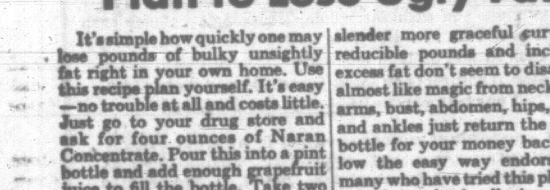

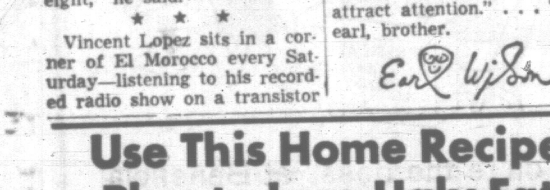

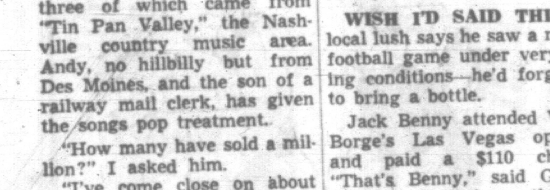

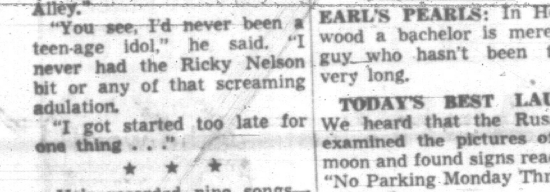

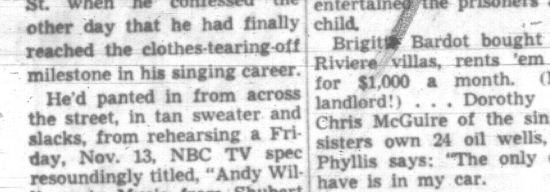

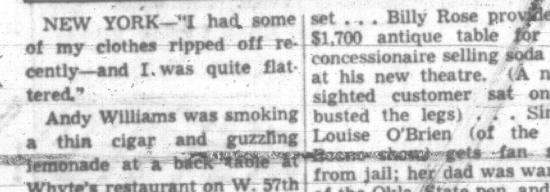

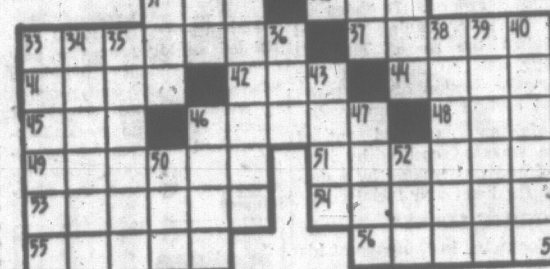

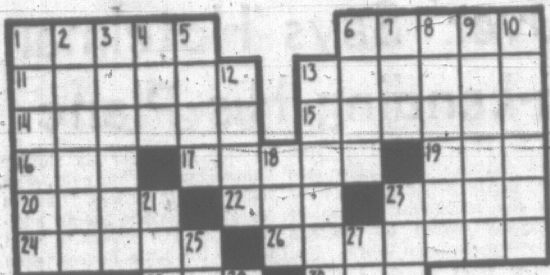

The rhodod and pieris will appreciate having 50 per cent peat moss mixed into the soil of the planting holes, but the others will thrive in the compost.

Watering should not be neglected in summer just because the corner is in shade, and the soil should be surface-scratched with a hoe frequently to keep it aerated.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books of other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 10-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy" Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Suzanne Honsberger, aged 11, of Jordan Station, Ont., for her question:

What Are Elements?

We are all used to the idea that everything in our world is made of atoms, too small for our eyes to see. For example, an atom of soot, which is carbon, measures about one hundred millionth part of an inch and there are countless billions of atoms in every thimbleful of ordinary air. There are only about 90 different atoms in our everyday world, and the bulk of the earth is made from less than a dozen different varieties.

When a substance is made entirely of atoms of one sort, it is a chemical element. The way the elements combine with each other to make the countless different things around us, wood and wool, rocks and rayon, air and water, is the story of chemistry.

The atoms which make up an element are all alike in size and in the way they behave with other atoms. Each element has its own boiling point and its own freezing point. The boiling point of the element oxygen is far below ordinary temperatures, which is why we find free oxygen as a gas in the air. The freezing point of the element gold is far below ordinary temperatures, which is why we find pure gold in solid nuggets.

It is not always possible to tell which element is which merely by looking at it. Magnesium looks a lot like silver and a flask of oxygen looks just like a flask of nitrogen. However, each element follows its own rules of chemical behavior. Nitrogen atoms are very stand-offish and seldom combine with the other elements. Oxygen atoms are quite the reverse. They are always ready to team up with almost any kind of atom.

Teams Up With Other Atoms

One of oxygen's favorite tricks is to team up with atoms of hydrogen. Hydrogen is a highly inflammable gas and oxygen is the gas which fuels every fire. Yet together, these two fiery elements form fire's greatest enemy—water.

At normal temperatures, water is a liquid and its boiling and freezing points are different from those of either of its parent elements. Oxygen also teams up with other elements to make the solid rocks of the earth's crust. Almost half of the solid ground on which we live is made from oxygen. A still more amazing compound is ordinary table salt. It is a compound of two poisonous elements, silvery white sodium metal and chlorine gas.

There is no limit to the number of different compounds Nature can make from a few basic elements. There are only 92 of these chemical elements in our everyday world and science has discovered a few more by laboratory experiments. Most of them are so rare that we never see or hear of them. The most abundant is oxygen which is present in the air, in water and in most rocks. Ninety-nine per cent of the earth's crust is made from the following elements in combination with one another: oxygen, silicon, aluminum, iron, calcium, sodium, potassium and magnesium. The remaining one per cent is shared by the rest of the chemical elements.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"I had some of my clothes ripped off recently—and I was quite flattered."

Andy Williams was smoking a thin cigar and guzzling lemonade at a back room of Whyte's restaurant on W. 57th St. when he confessed the other day that he had finally reached the clothes-tearing-off milestone in his singing career.

He'd panted in from across the street, in tan sweater and slacks, from rehearsing a Friday, Nov. 13, NBC TV spec resoundingly titled, "Andy Williams in Music from Shubert Alley."

"You see, I'd never been a teenage idol," he said. "I never had the Ricky Nelson bit or any of that screaming adulation."

"I got started too late for one thing..."

He's recorded nine songs—three of which came from "Tin Pan Valley," the Nashville country music area. Andy, no hillbilly but from Des Moines, and the son of a railway mail clerk, has given the songs pop treatment.

"How many have sold a million?" I asked him. "I've come close on about eight," he said.

Vincent Lopez sits in a corner of El Morocco every Saturday—listening to his recorded radio show on a transistor set... Billy Rose provided a $1,700 antique table for the concessionaire selling soda pop at his new theatre. (A near-sighted customer sat on it, busted the legs.)... Singer Louise O'Brien (of the Pat Boone show) gets fan mail from jail; her dad was warden of the Okla. State pen, and she entertained the prisoners as a child.

Brigitte Bardot bought two Riviera villas, rents 'em out for $1,000 a month. (Hey, landlord!)... Dorothy and Chris McGuire of the singing sisters own 24 oil wells, but Phyllis says: "The only oil I have is in my car."

EARL'S PEARLS: In Hollywood a bachelor is merely a guy who hasn't been there very long.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: We heard that the Russians examined the pictures of the moon and found signs reading: "No Parking Monday Through Friday."

WISH I'D SAID THIS: A local lush says he saw a recent football game under very trying conditions—he'd forgotten to bring a bottle.

Jack Benny attended Victor Borge's Las Vegas opening and paid a $110 cheque. "That's Benny," said George Burns, "he'll do anything to attract attention."... That's earl, brother.

'Mom' Whyte Comes to B.C.

TORONTO — Mrs. Bertha (Mom) Whyte headed west today after tearfully abandoning her Whytehaven foster home where she had cared for homeless children for six years until the government ruled the mission sub-standard. Mrs. Whyte Sunday addressed a small gathering at the sprawling home at Bowmanville, locked the dormitories and said it could all be had for $50,000.

"I don't think I'll ever see Bowmanville or Ontario again," the diminutive Bible-quoting woman said after conducting a "Requiem prayer" meeting.

Still crying, Mrs. Whyte, who successfully fought threats by the provincial welfare department to close the home until last August, drove away from the 50-acre farm overlooking Lake Ontario, and headed for Toronto to catch a train for Nelson, B.C., where "Good Christians" have to nated her land for a new home. Her new centre is in the Kootenay Valley almost within earshot of the mountain retreat of the fanatical Doukhobor sect.

Confirmation was received at Nelson Sunday that a 25-acre site has been given to Mrs. Whyte.

George J. Talmot said his offer to give the land near Blewett, on the south shore of Kootenay River 10 miles west of Nelson, was made with the provision it be used exclusively for the continuance of Mrs. Whyte's mission work.

A few years ago the land was given to the Kootenay Society for Handicapped Children as a site for a home and school. Last year the society decided instead to build a home near Creston, 50 miles south-east of here.

22. 'TO GO' BEFORE TOAST

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Seaforth Highlanders here won't be opening that silver flask of rum just yet.

The flask will be present at a reunion of No. 9 platoon of the Seaforth's 72nd Battalion Saturday. It has been for the last 20 years.

But it will remain unopened until only two of the 60 original members are alive to drink a toast from it to their dead comrades. There are still about 24 survivors, most of them in their 60s.

The flask was presented to the platoon by the late Arthur Leighton, former Nanaimo barrister who served in the platoon during the First World War.

Brown Wins Novice 'Scramble'

Motorcycle "scrambling" season on Vancouver Island came to an end Sunday with a double bill meet of the Victoria Motorcycle Club watched by nearly 1,000 at the Metchosin Road course.

Winner of the novice scramble was Joe Brown, followed by Jim Fracy, Bryan Scharbach and Dave Moore, who pushed in with a broken chain.

Field meet championship and Carmichael Trophy was won by Ernie Hills after placing second in the day's race to top aggregate standings for the season.

Winner of the day's field meet event was Jack Heanski on an Ariel Scrambler and Wes Morhart was third.

'Virtuosity Expressed Gracefully'

By AUDREY JOHNSON
Flery Bohemian music of Antonin Dvorak dominated this weekend's Victoria Symphony Orchestra concerts, first of which took place at Sidney on Friday.

Sunday afternoon's performance at the Royal Theatre was well attended and well received.

Pleasing her audience with a polished performance of the Dvorak Piano Concerto in G minor was Toronto pianist Sheila Henig.

This young Canadian proved to be a most musically pianist. Her approach is serious and dedicated to a degree that, even in the most spectacular passages of a truly virtuosic work, she appeared to emphasize and draw her audience's attention to its underlying musical properties.

LOVELY TONE
She has a sympathetic touch that produces a consistently lovely tone. An authoritative and fluent technique is intelligently disciplined and commanded by good taste. This was virtuosity expressed gracefully and not—as is too often the case—empty of mind and heart.

As an interesting contrast Mozart's D major "Prague" Symphony had been selected by Hans Gruber as the orchestra's chief work.

Under direction the orchestra gave a competent performance of the Mozart gem.

There was elegance of detail and phrasing and a well-proportioned dynamic scheme.

But on the whole, on this occasion at least, there was a lack of that projected intensity, that verve that makes a performance truly memorable. The "Merry Wives of Winsor" overture, while it had momentary implications of uncertainty, was nevertheless a performance that had effectiveness and a genuine vitality.

Technical virtuosity and an amplitude of orchestral color closed the program with the playing of Dvorak's Carnival Overture.

TIME OUT! JEFF KEATE

Ron Sage Solo Sweet Music For Ladysmith

Just as expected, Ladysmith boomed back into the lead in the Victoria and District Football League Sunday after relinquishing top spot to Evcoes for a day.

Ladysmith beat Kickers, 5-2, at Heywood Park while the youthful Victoria West entry climbed into third place with a 2-1 win over Brodies at Central Park.

Heaneys dropped a 3-0 verdict to Gorge Hotel at Reynolds Road and Esquimalt climbed out of the league cellar with a 5-1 win over Navy.

In Saturday's lone fixture, Evcoes scored all of their goals in the first 25 minutes of action in handing Saanich Thistles their first loss of the season, 4-1.

Next action for league teams will be Wednesday when Kickers and Brodies tangle at Royal Athletic Park in the final of the McGavin Cup series.

Sunday's "big" game between Ladysmith and Kickers became almost a Ron Sage solo as the shifty forward accounted for four of the winners' goals. Sam Henry scored the fifth. Antol Major scored once in each half for Kickers.

Ken Hibbert saved Brodies from being blanked at Central Park, scoring in the last minutes of the second half after Pat Mulcahy and Alan Glen had given Wests an early 2-0 lead.

THREE FOR THEO
At Reynolds Park, Ian Holroyd and flashy Billy Abbott both scored first-half counters and Kurt Lampert a second-half goal as Heaneys took their 3-0 lacing from Gorge while at Naden, Theo Koenig scored three and Adrian Hendrickson two in Esquimalt's win.

Jack Strachan opened for Navy, but the 1-0 first-half lead soon vanished.

Saturday's game was a real team effort for Evcoes as single goals were scored by Tim Walker, George Paul, George Ball and Maurice Bunyan. Gary Crowe hit the nets for Saanich early in the opening session.

PATTERSONS FACING TOUGH TASK TONIGHT

Second-place stakes are piled on the nightcap but the pressure is on Pattersons when they face Navy in the opening game of tonight's Commercial Hockey League doubleheader at Memorial Arena.

Pattersons, looking for their first victory, face unbeaten Navy in the lid-lifter, starting at 7:30. Vics and Army, each with identical 1-1, won-lost records, square off in the second game.

Colts Booted Off Grid Title Trail

By Associated Press

The foot played an important role in the National Football League games Sunday. It solidified the New York Giants' position at the top of the eastern conference. And it set back the champion Baltimore Colts' hopes of winning the western conference title for the second straight year.

Pat Summerall booted three field goals — kicks of 37, 49 and 20 yards — to account for all of New York's points as the Giants downed the Chicago Cardinals, 9-3, in a battle of defensive units.

Sam Baker of Washington booted two field goals, the last a 46-yarder with 12 seconds remaining, to give the Redskins a 27-24 upset victory over the Colts.

TWO-GAME LEAD
The Baltimore defeat, coupled with San Francisco's 23-16 conquest of the Los Angeles Rams, boosted the 49ers' western division lead to two games with five to go.

The 49ers' big play was a 105-yard kickoff return by Abe Woodson.

Cleveland's Browns stayed within one game of the Giants by downing Philadelphia Eagles, 28-7, with Jimmy Brown scoring two touchdowns to take the scoring lead with 60 points.

Chicago Bears moved into a tie with Green Bay for third in the western section by clipping the Packers, 28-17.

Detroit and Pittsburgh played the first tie of the season, a 10-10 affair.

Raiders Lead by One Point In Juvenile Football Final

The Oak Bay Police juvenile Canadian football team will be starting with a one-point deficit next Sunday against Campbell River Raiders in the second game of a total-point series for the Vancouver Island championship at Carnarvon Park.

Campbell River won the opening game series at home Sunday, defeating Oak Bay 8-7, on an unconverted touchdown and two singles.

Red Dydford opened with the Raider major at the four-minute mark of the first quarter and it wasn't until five minutes before the half that Oak Bay team connected, on a 30-yard pass-and-run play from quarter back Murray Halkett to his favorite target, end Daryl Lermer.

Halkett converted and Oak Bay had a 7-6 lead.

The two singles by Bud Graham came one in each of the last two quarters as the two teams settled down to a defensive battle. Defensive standouts were guard Marshall for the Raiders and Ken Davis

Recovery 'Moon' Still Up There

RUSSIA PLANS TO BOLSTER SALMON RUNS

SEATTLE (AP) — Faced with declining salmon runs, Russia plans to more than double its number of salmon hatcheries in the next seven years.

Dr. Michail N. Mironov so reported to the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission, of which Japan, Canada and the United States are members. The Russian was here as an observer.

He said Russia now has 32 hatcheries producing 600,000,000 salmon and plans 38 more to bring the annual production to 1,400,000,000.

Blood Tests To Weed Out Fraser Cattle

A move to bloodtest cattle in the Fraser Valley and kill off those responding positively has been announced by Provincial Agriculture Minister Steacy in an effort to wipe Brucellosis—or Bang's disease—from valley herds.

His office will distribute petitions to secure the signatures of valley cattle owners.

The petition will request the minister to ask the federal department of agriculture to blood test cattle in the Fraser Valley for Brucellosis without delay "to order the slaughter of all reactors and to pay compensation."

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The United States Air Force said Sunday that the instrument capsule aboard its orbiting Discoverer VII satellite failed to separate as scheduled on its 17th trip around the world.

"There now is no possibility of recovery from space of the highly instrumented orbital vehicle," the air force said.

An electrical malfunction in the rocket prevented the capsule from ejecting, the spokesman said.

It now is slowly tumbling through space, instead of following a steady course, the air force said.

The air force launched the Discoverer here Saturday. An impulse radiated from the ground was supposed to have separated the capsule from its position in the rocket as it passed over the Hawaiian Islands, Sunday.

Planes from Hawaii were to try and snatch the falling capsule from the sky.

YOUTH WEEK

Juveniles Get Blamed For the Few

Youth today has been improperly labelled due to the actions of five per cent who are delinquents.

Thus the word "juvenile" has been perverted into an unsavory meaning, said Harry Youson, chairman of the Optimists Clubs' "Youth Appreciation Week."

"This week," starting today, "is a form of rebuttal against this negative attitude."

A banquet at 6:30 this evening in the Monterey Restaurant will be attended by Mayor Percy Scurrell, reeves of Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich, and principals of Greater Victoria high schools.

Guest speaker will be Rev. William Hills, Cadboro Bay.

Mr. Youson said the "week" is dedicated to the "average" youngster; the one doing a good job in growing up to meet adult responsibilities.

The three Greater Victoria Optimists clubs will take 300 boys and girls to Wednesday's hockey game in the Memorial Arena.

Civil Service Of Alberta To Quit CLC

CALGARY (CP)—Alberta's 9,000 civil servants, worried by a proposed swing into politics by organized labor, Friday withdrew from the Canadian Labor Congress.

The withdrawal came less than a month after the Civil Servants Association of Alberta suspended itself temporarily from the Alberta Federation of Labor in protest against the federation's support of plans for a new national political party formed by a merger of labor and CCF.

Our Very Own Island Digest

(Writ by hand by our Very Own Island Correspondents)

FLUORIDATION ISSUE TALKS HELD SOON

WOBBLE HILL, V.I.—The town authorities are laying plans to discuss the question of fluoridation at the earliest possible date.

Reeve Elmer Fadd has already come forth with a forthright statement, saying he stands foursquare for a full discussion and examination of the question of fluoridation because "I realize to the fullest the importance of the issue of fluoridation."

Reeve Fadd declined to say whether or not, he, personally, favored the fluoridation issue.

"It is up to the majority of council to decide when, if ever, Wobble Hill should issue fluoridation," he said. "I intend to wait for the majority opinion."

"Also," he added, "if any of the councillors know what fluoridation is and will be kind enough to tell me, I would find it of great assistance in making a ruling of benefit to Wobble Hill as a whole."

FLUORIDATION FAILS TO WIN FULL APPROVAL

CUTTING CORNERS, V.I.—While many citizens of Cutting Corners feel the addition of fluorides to the water would be a good thing, Lem Fyde, who works down to the pool hall, is against it.

In an exclusive interview with your Cutting Corners correspondent, Lem said:

"I ain't rightly against progress, but when it comes to adding stuff to the water, I gotta protest."

"It's bad enough when they keep adding water to the stuff . . ."

DECISION RESERVED ON FLUORIDATION

WALLOPEM BEACH, V.I.—Most citizens of Wallopem Beach applaud the idea of fluoridation across the nation.

But the consensus of opinion is, this isn't the right time to get our teeth into it, this being the off-season, like.

FLUORIDATION IDEA HAILED BY CITIZENS

LUNCHVILLE, V.I.—This island community is all in favor of progress and thus it came as no surprise when an informal poll of the citizens showed they were absolutely behind the idea of fluoridation of the water supply. The poll also showed the citizens were absolutely behind the idea of a water supply.

MAYOR UNAVAILABLE FOR FLUORIDE COMMENT

GOON CENTRE, V.I.—Mayor Abner Goon, the chief magistrate and leading citizen of this community, could not be reached today for comment on his attitude about water.

What he was drinking last night wasn't.

However, he is doing as well as can be expected.

(The above dispatch was writ by hand by your Goon Centre correspondent, Mrs. Abner Goon.)

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A thief who could have had a car settled for an overcoat last night.

D. W. Cabell, 128 976 Humboldt, told police his $80 overcoat was taken from his suite by a thief who tossed the car keys from a pocket into the entrance hall before leaving the apartment block.

The Victoria Public Library will be closed over the Remembrance Day holiday Wednesday.

Victoria naval bandsman Peter A. Metcalf, 35, has been promoted from petty officer to acting commissioned officer (SB), it was announced at Esquimalt naval base today.

He served in the Royal Marines for 15 years and joined the RCN at HMCS Niobe, the navy's establishment in London, Eng., in 1954.

Development of self-expression, not just speech-making, is the main object of Toastmaster clubs, international director Robin Dick told 100 members of five Victoria Toastmaster clubs at a "rally" Saturday in Holyrood House.

The clubs gave opportunities to persons not aware of "talents within" and using the medium of the club "are able to express them," he said.

Hector Proulx, 512 Macaulay, was fined $250 and his driver's licence was suspended for 30 days when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of impaired driving.

Police said Proulx's car was in collision with a parked car.

The Greater Victoria Retarded Children's Association will elect a president at the monthly meeting in Spencer House, 1851 Cook Street, Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Next meeting of the Esquimalt Golden Age Club will be held November 25.

At least 1,000 cars pulled into Goldstream Park Sunday and boosted the coffers of Queen Alexandra Sorium Junior Auxiliary by $310.10.

The league is dispensing hot dogs, coffee and hot chocolate there Sunday from 10:30 to 5 p.m., proceeds to go to the sorium for crippled children.

Attraction is the annual salmon run.

The auxiliary will be out each Sunday until month's end, as well as Nov. 11, Remembrance Day.

Royal Victoria Yacht Club's "frostbite" season opened Sunday in perfect weather with 11 boats competing in races with Cadboro Bay from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

First place winners in the five events comprising three boat owners' races and two non-owners' races were Bill McIntosh, Jim Davis, Margaret Korning and Ned Ashe, who captured two firsts.

The newly-constituted Saanich advisory town planning board will meet for the first time at the Capital Region Planning Board office at 5 p.m. Thursday. It replaced the old town planning commission.

The change is the result of an amendment to the Municipal Act calling for the establishment of advisory boards to replace planning commissions.

Members appointed by council to serve on the board are as follows: Kenneth Genn, Donald Wagg, Frank W. Nicholls, Donald E. Forrest, Douglas Crosby, Cousins, Stanley Murphy and Ainslee Worthington.

The clubs gave opportunities to persons not aware of "talents within" and using the medium of the club "are able to express them," he said.

Frank W. Briers, 5050 Lochside, who retired as Victoria fire chief in 1957, is in fair condition at St. Joseph's Hospital, where he underwent an abdominal operation Friday.

A patient of St. Joseph's since Oct. 8, Mr. Briers is permitted no visitors apart from the immediate family.

Garth D. Bowering, 19, of Work Point, was fined $50 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of being a minor in possession of beer.

GYMKHANA JAMBOREE WEDNESDAY

Horse Laughs Just for People

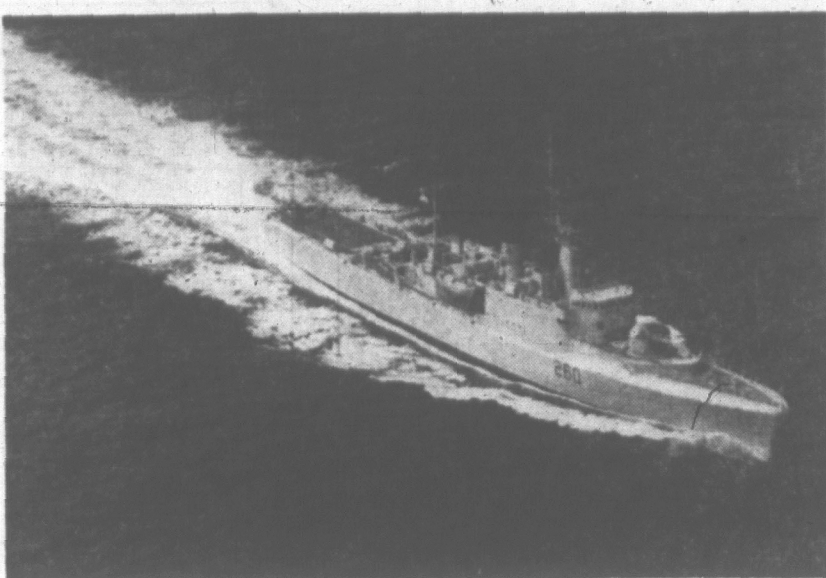

It will be "laughs aplenty" on Wednesday afternoon at Victoria Riding Academy show ring when a "gymkhana jamboree" is staged for all horsemen of the area, starting at 1:30.

"It's open to everyone, with no entry fees," Manager Don Carley announced. Winners will receive ribbons.

Ten events will be offered designed to provide fun for spectators as well as participants. Take for instance the first-contest of the program . . . pairs of riders will race to a given point, dismount, and one rider, leading the two horses, will push his or her partner in a wheelbarrow to the finish line.

Then there will be a "pop, biscuit and whistle race" where contestants will ride to one end of the ring, dismount and "down" a bottle of soft drink, get back in the saddle, and whistle to the finish line. And whistle a well-known tune.

SHE'S COMING TO 'EXERCISE'

Canada's newest naval vessel, the Restigouche class destroyer-escort HMCS Columbia, is due in Esquimalt harbor Tuesday for working-up exercises before leaving for Halifax.

Nov. 27 to join six sister ships of the RCN's 5th Canadian escort Squadron. Columbia, built in Vancouver by Burrard Dry Dock Ltd., was commissioned there Saturday.

Fog Washes Out 10 TCA Flights

Pat Bay Airport Idled by Weather From Sunday Evening to 11 a.m. Today

Fog which blanketed lower Vancouver Island and the mainland overnight forced cancellation of 10 Trans-Canada Air Lines flights from Patricia Bay Airport to Vancouver and Seattle.

Schedules were resumed at 11 a.m. today.

City Doctors Support Fluoridation

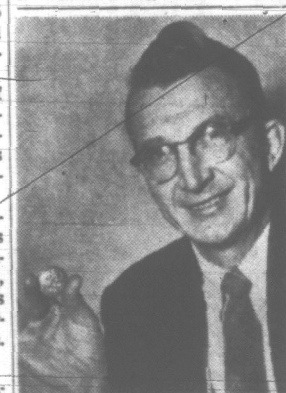

Victoria Medical Society unanimously endorses fluoridation of Greater Victoria's water supply. It was announced today prior to a "second look" by Esquimalt council at its decision against a December referendum.

Dr. A. F. McGill, VMS president, said the medical organization had gone on record "as advocating fluoridation" of water.

Esquimalt council previously rejected a proposed fluoridation referendum this year. But Reeve A. C. Wurtele said the decision would be reconsidered in view of Oak Bay and Saanich councils' actions ordering referendums and the probability that city council will order a vote too.

SINGLE MAIN

Oak Bay is the only municipality that can fluoridate its water independently because it is served by a single main. Victoria, Saanich and Esquimalt water systems are linked at numerous points, requiring votes and electors' approval in all three municipalities before fluoridation can be introduced.

"GOLD IN THE WANT ADS"

is the gospel being preached by Lewis Lunde, Victoria vacuum cleaner salesman.

He answered a Times advertisement last January placed by a miner seeking a partner to develop a goldmine in southwest B.C. Lunde invested $15,000. Two weeks ago he and George Powell, who placed the ad, sold out for $300,000 to Pacific Western Metals Ltd. of Vancouver. Lunde holds sample of gold worth $300 taken from high grade ore.

Five flights to Vancouver and one to Seattle were washed out from 6:30 p.m. Sunday and three Vancouver flights and one to Seattle this morning before visibility improved.

On the mainland, flights from eastern Canada, the U.S. and Mexico were diverted to Abbotsford and passengers taken to Vancouver by bus.

There were no diversions to Patricia Bay where visibility around midnight was one-eighth of a mile compared with zero at Vancouver.

A pontoon-equipped Cessna aircraft circled the Campbell River airport for almost an hour Sunday trying to find a gap in the fog. The plane was sighted on RCAF radar screens and an Expediter aircraft was dispatched from Vancouver to assist it. By that time it had made a safe landing.

There is little chance of fog recurring tonight as cool, dry air from the north pushes down over this area, the weatherman said.

Temperature here Sunday night reached a low of 40, and tonight is expected to be much the same with a daytime high Tuesday of around 50 degrees. Tuesday is expected to be sunny.

Few Veterans Hit by CMHC Loan Cutoff

Veterans' Land Act officials said here today last week's federal government order cutting off direct CMHC loans until 1960 will only affect a small number of veterans seeking to build homes on city lots.

They said loans under a section of VLA where a veteran could borrow up to $10,000 to build a home on a city lot will not be available until next year.

"This type of loan came under CMHC," they explained. "We advanced the money for the dwelling and when it was completed, turned it over to CMHC. They paid us back."

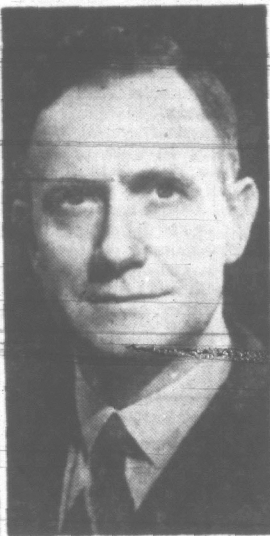

"It follows that as CMHC has run out of money and can't pay us back, veterans are cut off from this type of home-building loan."

But they added loans for veterans wanting to establish themselves on small holdings of one-and-a-half acres or more are still available.

The majority of veterans are applying for this type of loan, they said.

Other events will include musical tins in pairs, which is similar to the children's party game of musical chairs, only in this case the competitors are on horseback; a saddle race; a sack race, where the payoff comes when riders must lead their horses while hopping from one end of the ring to the other in a potato sack; a costume race, slow canter race, potato race, jumping team event, and cigar and umbrella race.

$600 Million Tourist Take For Britain

Britain's revenue from tourists in 1959 is expected to exceed $600,000,000, John G. Bridges, director-general of the British Travel Association, said here today.

"I would estimate that by the end of this year we will have entertained some 1,300,000 overseas visitors, including some 90,000 from Canada," he stated.

"The tourist industry in Britain has grown to the point where it is now our greatest single dollar earner."

TALKER

A dapper energetic figure, Mr. Bridges retains the burr of his native Glasgow and is a voluble talker on travel as a means of promoting international friendship.

He has been director-general of the British Travel Association since 1945.

Delayed by fog from Vancouver, he arrived at the Empress Hotel at 12 noon and at 12:30 p.m. gave a luncheon for Victoria travel agents.

Tonight he leaves for Manila to attend the congress of the International Union of Official Travel organizations.

Hungry Hunter Finds Way Out

Victorian Lost Two Days In Shawnigan Lake Area

A 26-year-old father of three children struggled through dense brush this morning to reach safety after a two-day ordeal without food or warm clothing in the Shawnigan-Renfrew bush country.

Naval Petty Officer Richard Blackman, of HMCS St. Laurent, reached the Port Renfrew Road this morning and flagged down a B.C. Telephone Company truck which drove him to Bear Creek logging camp.

He had been missing since Saturday when he lost his way during a deer-hunting trip.

RCMP officers called off a search by his friends and some 20 shipmates, after he arrived at the camp, suffering from scratches, a bad cold and fatigue.

He telephoned his wife at 3124 Stevenson Place to say that he was "tired but okay," before starting off on the trip home.

ONLY A SWEATER

An experienced hunter, PO Blackman had no food for two days and shivered through two damp and cold nights with only a sweater to warm him.

He finally found his way out of the bush by following a stream.

The hunting trip began Saturday with a friend, Malcolm Simpson, 28, of Spring Road. After a fruitless day they parted company for a final sweep through the woods at 2 p.m. PO Blackman had no compass.

Three hours later Simpson arrived back at their truck but his companion did not turn up. Simpson drove up and down the road until he ran out of gas. He filled the tank at Bear Creek camp and continued searching alone until after midnight.

POLICE NOTIFIED

At 1:30 a.m. Sunday Mrs. Blackman, alarmed at her husband's absence, notified police that he was missing. One hour later, Simpson phoned his wife to tell her what had happened.

About a dozen friends took up the search for Mr. Blackman on Sunday. They were assisted today by about 20 sailors from PO Blackman's ship, HMCS St. Laurent.

PO Blackman has been in Victoria for nine years. He and Mrs. Blackman have three young children.

Archie McKinnon Home in Few Days For Recuperation

Archie McKinnon, injured YMCA physical director, will be home from hospital "within a few days, certainly this week," his doctor said today.

Meanwhile, a fund started on his behalf in appreciation of the 63-year-old athlete's work with youth of Greater Victoria has reached $2,300.

The doctor said Mr. McKinnon would recuperate at home "two or three weeks" and would then be ready for a proposed convalescent trip to England.

By the time he is discharged from St. Joseph's, Mr. McKinnon will have spent almost a month in hospital, following serious injuries sustained in a fall during a water comedy act in the Crystal pool.

CHURCH SERMON

Flynn Protege 'Young Slut' Says Whitlow

Miss Beverly Aadland, generally described in recent news stories as the late Errol Flynn's "protege," was branded "a young slut . . . who had been Flynn's mistress for two years" in an Anglican church sermon here Sunday.

Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral made the reference in an Armistice Day sermon, in describing the decline of moral values brought on by war.

He told of two young friends, headed for the priesthood, who were killed on air force duty, and asked: "Did they die to leave the kind of world we have today?"

The Dean said: "It is shocking to think that a newspaper would pay $20,000 for the memoirs of this girl, and that people will lick their lips reading about her life."

(A British tabloid is reported to have made the offer.)

Fingerprint Convicts Man Of Burglary

A single fingerprint betrayed 20-year-old Frederick James Morry, 910 Market, who pleaded guilty in city police court today to a $50 burglary, Oct. 25.

Charged with breaking, entering and theft at Delta Coffee Shop, 2656 Quadra, Morry was remanded for sentence to Nov. 17.

A/Det. Donald Buie said he and Det. William Andrews went to the shop and found entry was gained by a ground floor washroom window.

All sugar containers had been emptied, and the sugar taken along with a gallon of cream, eight loaves of bread, a half dozen pies and some cigarettes.

The counter sugar jars were subjected to rigorous examination by police identification expert Bernard Brennan when it was learned each had been wiped clean by a waitress at closing time Oct. 24.

A comparison print was found and matched with Morry's, court was told.

He was taken to Seattle from Port Angeles, and was to be returned to Victoria today.

A resident of Victoria West, he will be charged in Oak Bay police court Tuesday with theft.

Free on Bail, Youth Held In Burglary

A Victoria youth on $2,500 bail awaiting trial with five others on a charge of burglary at Growers Winery Oct. 29 was charged in Saanich police court today with burglary of a Quadra drug store early last Friday.

Arthur William Reeve, 22, of 1344 Pandora, was remanded for election and plea to the regular Saanich court sitting Tuesday afternoon.

He is represented by Alan Bigelow, who requested the remand to enable him to obtain a psychiatric report on his client.

Saanich detectives said Reeve was arrested Saturday noon and charged with breaking, entering and theft at Atherton's Pharmacy, 3508 Quadra, at about 4 a.m. Friday.

They said the drug store front door was smashed open with a rock and about $150 worth of prescription-type, pain-relieving drugs, cigarettes and other items such as cigarette lighters were stolen.

All were recovered by detectives.

Reeve and the five others were remanded last Thursday for trial Tuesday on the joint charge of breaking, entering and theft of about $300 worth of wine from Growers Wine Co. Ltd., 3948 Quadra. All pleaded not guilty.

ASK THE TIMES

Q—Will you please tell me the three largest cities in the world, their latest populations, suburbs included? M.E.B.

A—Largest city is Tokyo, 8,774,638; London, 8,251,000; New York, 7,775,471. Administrative practices vary concerning metropolitan areas, so that while the New York metropolitan area has a population of 14,000,000 and includes northeastern New Jersey—not even in the same state—administration of only half this area population falls on New York. The same is true for Tokyo. London proper is only one square mile in the city centre, so most of the population could, loosely, be described as suburban.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Today cosmetics not only greatly enhance the woman but they are so much fun! There are many clever aids constantly arriving on the market.

Wonder of wonders, there is now a heart-shaped lipstick! This is not only a romantic idea but a very practical and helpful one. As we all know the usual shapes are awkward to use. For this reason the woman who has been interested in successful make-up has been using a lipstick brush. The heart-shaped stick makes a brush unnecessary. You use the point of the heart on your upper lip and can smoothly outline any shape you wish to have there while the full part of the heart is perfect for the sweep on the lower lip. The curved lower edge of the heart makes application at the corners of the mouth easy to accomplish.

Some of the false eyelashes on the markets are very artificial looking but many are most flattering and also appear to be natural. These are made of real hair, the hairs being the same weight as real lashes.

The kind I like best has varying length hairs. Our own lashes are not all the same length. If false lashes are uniform they will not look like the real thing. If they are too thick they also will look artificial.

To apply false eyelashes you simply dampen the little thread to which they are attached with the special adhesive and place the thread just above your own lashes. Then you press it down with the end of a match (not the end you light) or a toothpick. After this apply mascara in order to blend the false with the true lashes, and to make them appear thicker.

You can use these over and over again if you will take them off carefully and remove mascara and adhesive so that they will be clean for the next wearing.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Easy to Remember Friends With Inexpensive Gifts

By PENNY SAVER

Let's go Christmas shopping! Biggest problem seems to be to find gifts in the low price range that are still nice enough to please a neighbor or friend. Here are a few ideas that will allow you to show that you were thinking of them!

Mouse traps can be fun! One I saw this week is in the form of a paper weight and paper clip. Cheeky-faced mouse will bring a smile to any recipient! You can buy one for 95 cents.

Most versatile little dachshund I've seen for a long time is little black fellow that has a sponge for moistening stamps, on his head; coil rack on his back for holding letters and bills, and a holder, complete with a pen and letter opener. Every inch of appealing canine is jam-packed with usefulness! Price of ceramic pup is 95 cents.

Your friend will adore one of the "Christmas belles" that are selling for 69 cents. Glamorous gals come dressed in varying costumes, ranging from red-house dresses and striped aprons to snow outfits and party dresses.

China beauties all have a pair of shiny wings and carry candy wands, touched with sprigs of holly. Actually, they're dinner bells.

If your friend is a home bunny, she'd be thrilled with charming little marmalade pots I saw on sale for $1.19. They could be used for any kind of jam or jelly, too, for colorful lids that top each pot are shaped like oranges, grapes, apples and other fruit. Each fruit has a face-on it, distinguished by curling eyelashes and a completely feminine rosy mouth.

Lids come complete with attached spoon for serving the pot's delicious contents.

For any of these gift suggestions, give Penny a ring at EV 2-3131.

DEAR ABBY...

What Do You Think, Kids?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this for all the girls in our high school because we all feel the same way about it. One of our 16-year-old junior girls ran away and married a 17-year-old senior boy. They had to announce it because she is having a baby pretty soon.

Both the boy and the girl are still going to school here. We think the boy should be allowed to go to school. But not the girl. She brags about what she fixes Gary for breakfast and talks about things that only married women should talk about. We think married women don't fit into high school. Are we wrong in wanting to have her expelled?

Please answer this in the paper as we'd like the opinions of other teenagers on this subject. Thank you.

GIRLS OF SOUTH HIGH. DEAR GIRLS: A student who is an unwholesome influence on other students does not belong in a public school. But to expel a girl simply because she is married is unfair and unlawful. Tell your parents how you feel and why. And ask them to take it up with the school principal. I welcome the opinions of teenagers, parents and educators.

DEAR ABBY: I am no silly kid. I am 31 years old and am old enough to know better than to be in a fix like this, but here's my problem: Henry got me in a family way. I told him about it and he said he would marry me. He was unemployed at the time so I bought myself a set of rings on contract because I wanted everything first-class. I paid $20 down and made three payments of $2 each. Then I had a miscarriage. Henry says there is no sense in marrying me now. I am stuck with no husband and no baby and a set of rings I can't use. Can you tell me what to do?

VIOLET. DEAR VIOLET: You are well rid of a man who would marry you only if he had to. Ask the jeweler if he will take the rings back. (You will have to stand some loss). Under the circumstances I think you came out ahead. And by the way, you need one.

CONFIDENTIAL TO KEN-NETH: For goodness sake, a thirty-year-old man should be "dating." Hurry up. By the time you learn the game you'll be too old to make the team.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

fire broke out included Daley, Robert Dippel and Edward Wells.

Daley said he first noticed the fire on the surface of the channel. He reported it to chief mate George Davis and then ran toward a hatchway to sound the alarm.

Then came the first explosion. "I went over the rail, between the deck and the dock," Daley said. Then came another explosion.

"That's when the steel began bombarding. Steel was flying all around me. I didn't know whether it was from the ship or the dock."

He got away with only minor burns but left his life savings of $3,400 in a locker aboard ship.

"I don't think I'll be sailing tankers again. I'm going back to freighting."

The first thunderous explosions hurled some sailors into the oil-covered, chilly waters. The temperature was about 40 degrees.

Others slid down lines or leaped overboard. Flames shot down and under a T-shaped pier leading to the storage tanks ashore. Attendants quickly turned off valves connecting loading tubes and pipelines.

A 72-year-old sailor said the experience forced him to swim for the first time in his life.

Boatswain Rudolph Ozol escaped death by jumping into the channel and swimming the 50 yards to shore.

"That's a long way for a man of my age but a man will do many things under pressure."

Diabetes Detection Campaign Nov. 14-21

Diabetic children are the greatest single "why" of the Canadian Diabetic Association, its national president Wade Hamilton told members of the Victoria and District branch meeting Friday night in the auditorium of St. Joseph's Hospital nurses' residence.

"A diabetic child is a particular challenge... because diabetes is more severe in a child. We should have a personal responsibility to see that every diabetic child is looked after."

Mr. Hamilton compared the lot of a diabetic child of 10 years of age, living today, with a child born 40 years ago.

"In those days he would have had two or three years' life expectancy at the age of 10 years. Nowadays a diabetic can expect to live almost as long as a non-diabetic. We cannot make an exact comparison because, until recently, diabetics did not last long enough for medical science to find out."

150,000 UNKNOWN

Speaking on the "why" of the Diabetes Detection Week campaign Nov. 14-21 Mr. Hamilton said, "It is the first such campaign to be launched on a national scale since the Canadian Diabetic Association was formed six and one-half years ago. There are 150,000 undiscovered diabetics in Canada, and there will be 6,000 more next year. It's unthinkable what will happen if they aren't discovered."

Honeymooner Talks Trade With Canada

British exporter Major B. G. Merridale-Austin interrupted his honeymoon at the Empress Hotel today to talk about trade with Canada.

"It is improving all the time," he said.

From his home in London, England, Major Merridale-Austin flew out to Seattle last Saturday to marry a Seattle girl he met in Europe several years ago.

After their wedding they shipped off to Victoria for a 48-hour stay in Victoria.

RESTFUL

"My wife assured me Victoria was one of the most restful cities in the world," he said, "and so far I am inclined to agree with her."

In London, Major Merridale-Austin is chairman of Merri-dale-Austin and Sons Ltd., exporters of heavy machinery, electrical equipment, automobiles, airplanes and a wide range of smaller goods.

"Britain has finally emerged from the postwar era," he said, "and the easing of currency restrictions on sterling has greatly improved our overseas trade."

"Within a year I think we will have full convertibility of the British pound and that will really open up our trade with Canada and the U.S."

Youth Gets His 'Kicks'

—Then Some

Nineteen-year-old Don Delaney, 1034 Colville, must pay the piper double for the tune he called in a pre-dawn disturbance in the Fernwood district Sunday.

He pleaded guilty in city police court today to wilful damage under $50 value for kicking in a four by 2 1/2-foot door pane valued at $10 at the home of Dora White, 1356 Pembroke, and was ordered to go to jail for seven days, pay a $50 fine, or 10 additional days, and the repair bill, or another three days.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas, recognizing Delaney from a previous appearance in court recently, said:

"What is the matter with you young people; have you no more sense than this?"

RAN AWAY

Court was told Delaney ran south on Fernwood near Gladstone when a police patrol stopped him. They had been called at 5.15 a.m. when the house owner stopped a young man breaking the glass.

Delaney was identified by the owner as the trouble-maker, and gave as an explanation only that he had been "looking for a friend."

Police said the accused had been drinking.

Colorado Cadets Beat Royal Roads

U.S. Air Force Academy Cadets from Colorado Springs, Col., took command of both events competed in Saturday when they met host cadets at Royal Roads.

U.S. Cadet Fer paced off the four-mile cross-country course in a record-setting 20 minutes 31 seconds to lead five fellow cadets home ahead of the first Royal Roads entry, Cadet Pirquet.

In soccer, the visitors won 3-0 with goalie Gordon Wall being outstanding as the academy team was outshot 27-9.

He praised the local organization in its preparation for the forthcoming Diabetes Detection Week.

"Two years ago Victoria was one of the first centres to hold a detection drive."

Education is needed to overcome ignorance, apathy and fear of diabetes. "It is up to you to educate other diabetics," he told the branch members. "A poorly controlled diabetic is a discredit to other diabetics because diabetics are measured by the lowest common denominator."

These are some of the objectives of the Canadian Diabetic Association: Diet counselling with a dietician operating out of Vancouver and service available to Victoria residents—a National Diabetes Foundation for the establishment of centres across Canada for clinical research and the treatment of diabetes.

IT LASTS LONGER

Canny Scots To Freeze Their Heather

A flower exporting firm at Inverness, Scotland is planning to ship frozen heather to Canada and the United States next year.

And it will freeze other flowers for shipment overseas by a "newly-developed method."

Victoria flower grower Bill Mattick said today this freezing process should be of considerable interest to Vancouver Island shippers.

"It would be particularly useful when Easter comes late and the flowers are still in the ground," he said.

At present Island shippers pre-cool fresh flowers before they are packed or after they are packed. They are then flown to provinces all across Canada and usually arrive in good shape.

At Inverness, Scotland, Alan Thornton said his firm perfected a method of freezing flowers after a number of Canadians and Americans asked for frozen heather to take home.

"At first," he said, "the heather became brittle when frozen and broke when handled. Now we have found a way of freezing it which is completely successful."

"We are now using the same process with roses and it works wonderfully. I wore a rose bud in my buttonhole for five days last week after it had been frozen for three weeks."

Phony Stamps Not Going Through Mail

OTTAWA (CP) — The post office department said today it has yet to see any mailed envelope bearing one of the imitation five-cent stamps depicted on its Christmas-rush advertising sheets.

Postal authorities comment on a report that such an envelope was mailed successfully in Peterborough, said such a case would be the first of its kind since thousands of the advertising sheets have been distributed to households during the last two years.

The sheets, urging householders to buy stamps early and avoid the pre-Christmas queues in post offices, were distributed last year in all major Canadian cities such as Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. This year the same advertising is being done in some of the smaller cities—including Peterborough.

Around the edge of each sheet, which measures 8 inches by 4 1/2 inches, are reproductions of 22 five-cent stamps, printed in blue. To prevent their use, each imitation stamp bears black cancellation lines and about one-quarter of each stamp is marked with a white mark.

The post office said it would prosecute any person suspected of using the imitations deliberately.

Mr. and Mrs. George Chapman—59 Years Married

'HOPE SHE'S LUCKY, TOO'

He Dreams of Old Estate With Princess at Hearth

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

If Princess Margaret should marry her latest escort, 33-year-old Alan Godsal, high sheriff of Berkshire, she will become mistress of one of the loveliest estates in all England.

"And what an asset she would be to dear old Berkshire," commented that lively Victoria philosopher, 84-year-old George Chapman of 1588 North Dairy Road.

From the sun-splashed porch of his trim Sanich home, Mr. Chapman looked over the fields to the blue Olympics and recalled how as a boy he worked on the 2,500-acre estate where Princess Margaret spent last weekend.

She was the guest of handsome, six-foot-two Mr. Godsal—youngest high sheriff in England—at his stately home at Haines Hill House, close by the ancient village of Hurst, Berkshire.

Change All That

Mr. Chapman remembers every corner of the old house and its splendid environs.

"Oh, it was a beautiful estate," he said. "A lovely big lake in front of the house... fir, old beech trees and colored moorheens swimming around on the water. Acres of glorious woods and fields—all within 35 miles of the heart of London."

"What more could a princess want?"

Mr. Chapman noted that Mr. Godsal, a bachelor, is now living alone in one part of Haines Hill House, with a staff of five.

"Of course," he mused, "if Princess Margaret married him she would soon change all that. And then it would be more like the grand old place it was when I was a boy..."

Mr. Chapman's bright blue eyes gleamed through his spectacles as he pictured the Haines Hill House of his boyhood—exquisitely furnished rooms attended by butlers, footmen and scores of women domestics.

Good Hard Frost

Outside, the spacious stables housing some 40 horses kept solely for fox hunting and a dozen others reserved for pulling carriages in the days before the motor car. And then the horses for those very special people—the grooms who cared for the horses.

"Why," said Mr. Chapman, "I've seen them exercising those horses around the estate when it was too frosty to turn a sod—and I was a farm boy who knew how to take advantage of a good hard frost."

"And on hunting days they turned out in their red coats—the horses all sleek and shiny and snorting for a good hard gallop over the meadows. Ah, those were the days when Englishmen really lived!"

Although Mr. Chapman is what he calls "a working type," he has no envy of England's landed gentry.

Gracious Living

"They've had a pretty rough time since the war," he said, "and some of them have fared much worse than they deserve. There were many good-hearted landlords among them and they lived graciously."

Mr. Chapman was born in the village of Hurst and grew up in a cottage where his father and grandfather had lived before him.

But he was the adventurous type and at 17 he left home to serve the old Great Western Railway working out of the Berkshire town of Reading.

In 1902 he went out to Sierra Leone in West Africa to help build a railway to the Liberian frontier. He contracted malaria and returned to England, where a doctor advised him to seek the cold hard climate of Manitoba.

With his young wife, Mr. Chapman migrated to Carberry, Man., and homesteaded there for several years. Then, in 1916, he went to North Battleford to seek a loan for a team of horses and, in the bank, ran into a Canadian Army recruiting officer.

We've Been Lucky

The officer talked him into joining up, and he sailed back to Europe for a spell of active service with railway troops in France.

After discharge in 1919, he bought a soldier settlement farm in Alberta and with his wife and children resumed the role of a Canadian farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman moved out to Victoria in 1956 and have never regretted it. Their son, James, is a successful businessman in Edmonton, but every year, on October 16, he comes out to Victoria to join his parents in celebrating the anniversary of their wedding in 1900.

"We've been lucky in life," says Mr. Chapman, "and hope Princess Margaret will be, too."

Deep Channel Discovered In Ocean Bed

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — A detailed chart of an undersea channel off the Washington Oregon coast—four to five times larger than the Mississippi River—has been completed at Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

The institution said the chart, made from correlation of soundings by Robert J. Burpee, a research geologist, shows the channel is 1,500 miles long and is cut as deep as 1,600 feet into the bottom of the sea.

The channel has been named Cascadia Channel. It starts off the Strait of Juan de Fuca, extends 200 miles southward and then turns almost due westward off Cape Blanco.

It lies from two to four miles under the surface of the ocean, and apparently has been cut by mighty currents.

WILD DRIVER KILLS THREE GIRLS IN ROW

BUERNE, The Netherlands (AP)—Three sisters—21, 19 and 18—strolled arm in arm with their fiancés Sunday night, along a roadside at 30-yard intervals. Each girl was on the outside. Suddenly, from the darkness, a car sped by, striking the three girls one by one and killing them instantly. The car roared on, leaving the men unscathed. Police today traced the driver through a headlamp torn from his car by one of the bodies. They said he was 25 years old and had drunk five glasses of beer just before the tragedy.

U.S., Canada Defence Talks

WASHINGTON (CP)—Seven-man teams of Canadian and United States cabinet ministers Sunday began a confidential review of North American defence and the commitments of the two countries under the North Atlantic Treaty. U.S. Defence Secretary Neil H. McElroy said in a brief interview he did not expect any "major change" in North American defence to emerge from the talks, though a wide range of subjects would be reviewed. Other informants suggested the United States might seek to enlist Canada's support before demanding that the European partners of NATO bear a greater share of European defence costs. The U.S., seeking to trim its expenditures, spends about $3,000,000,000 a year on manpower and machines for European defence.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—Police today said Bob Crosby was stabbed twice Saturday night by his wife June after he beat her to the floor during a family row. Police Chief Clinton Anderson said Crosby was stabbed in the left shoulder and the left forearm with a four-inch letter opener. He said Crosby, who had been drinking earlier in the evening, became belligerent and struck his wife.

100-Foot Wall of Fire Sweeps Texas Tanker

19-Hour Battle To Save Oil Port

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A wall of fire, spread by a series of rumbling explosions, engulfed the tanker Amoco Virginia at her ship channel berth Sunday. The captain and six sailors were trapped and killed, 25 other persons were injured.

A city fireman was drowned this morning while cooling the ship with foamite. He apparently stepped into a hole in the submerged portion of the ship. Investigators climbed over the buckled plates in search of clues to the cause of the blaze. The fire broke out less than four hours before the American Oil Company's 12,000-ton tanker was to sail for Albany, N.Y.

The flames, feeding on 135,000 barrels of high-test gasoline and fuel oil in the vessel's bunkers, threatened the heart of the biggest oil refining and petrochemical centre in the United States for 19 hours before firemen brought it under control.

WALL OF FLAME
It spread like a prairie fire, said seaman Joseph R. Daley. "As it spread, a solid wall of flames 100 feet high swept the ship."

More than 300 firemen battled the blaze. A blizzard of foam finally smothered the main fire in the tanker's forward bunkers—which had held 90,000 barrels of aviation-type gasoline.

Small fires continued to flicker on the vessel's superstructure and a pier alongside. It cast a rosy glow hours after dark. The blackened hull's deck plates buckled and its seams ripped.

Firemen found the body of Captain R. R. Combs at the foot of a ladder leading to his quarters. The bodies of four sailors were found in their quarters. Two others were found on deck.

FEAR DISASTER
Memories of the 1947 Texas city disaster that killed more than 500 persons prompted civil defence officials to alert the Texas state guard and order the evacuation of the immediate area.

Fire fighters ashore and aboard a lone fire boat applied water in the early stages before chemical extinguishers arrived. There would have been no hope for them if the ship had exploded and touched off fires in dozens of big oil storage tanks lining the north shore scant yards away.

Five explosions rocked the 540-foot tanker dock. The first came about 12:30 a.m., only minutes after the fire broke out.

FALL OVER CITY
Flames towered more than 200 feet high. Black, oily smoke mushroomed over the vessel and cast a pall over this Gulf Coast city of more than 900,000 for hours.

The final blast almost 12 hours later shot flames skyward again just as firemen appeared to have it under control. It pushed heat waves around the storage tanks on shore containing more than 1,000,000 gallons of highly explosive fuels.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Housewives were warned today three weeks before Thanksgiving that cranberries from Washington and Oregon may be contaminated with a cancer-producing agent from a chemical weed killer.

Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare, issued the warning at a news conference.

Flemming said the weed-killer, known as aminotriazole, produced cancer of the thyroid in experimental rats and that the public must use its discretion about buying the traditional Thanksgiving fare at this time.

He said the cancer-producing residues were found in the 1958 and 1959 crops from the two states.

At Hanson, Mass., president George Olson of the National Cranberry Association said "people could eat tons" of aminotriazole "without being killed by it."

BARRELS STORED
But Olson added that 30,000 barrels of cranberries valued at $360,000 had been "segregated and stored" pending further investigation.

Oregon state chemist J. D. Patterson said at Salem, Ore., that his laboratory was checking samples on the state's market to see if the weed-killer was present.

Washington State Agriculture Director Joe Dwyer ordered a similar analysis. He said at Olympia, Wash., that "much" of Washington's 1958 crop was being held up for chemical study and about half—30,000 barrels—from the 1957 crop had been destroyed last month.

Flemming said the weed killer known as aminotriazole produced cancer in the thyroid of rats in laboratory tests. There is no definite scientific evidence yet that it produces cancer in humans.

He said food and drug administration agents are conducting an on-the-spot investigation in other cranberry-growing states—Wisconsin, New Jersey and Massachusetts—to see if the dangerous weed killer had been used there.

Flemming also said investigation is under way on whether aminotriazole has been used on other food crops.

Some Victoria wholesalers who depend on the U.S. market for their supplies, said today they did not have any cranberries in stock from the two states at the present time.

They admitted that shipments of berries in the past have come from Oregon and Washington.

Wholesalers indicated that they would buy their cranberries elsewhere as the result of the warning.

Meanwhile, it was learned that Ottawa may take steps to ban infected berries from the United States.

'21' PRODUCER:

Fixed Quizzes 'A Good Show'

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Albert Freedman, producer of the quiz show "Twenty-One," today defended the defunct television program as good entertainment that made the mistake of being too successful.

"The only function of entertainment is to entertain," he said.

Freedman, indicted in New York, November 7, 1958, for perjury after denying the quiz show was rigged, said he came to Mexico City last June with his family "because I was unable to find employment at the time in the television industry due to all the adverse publicity."

"In the field of TV programming, saturated with murder and violence, it is my opinion that the quiz shows, as entertainment, were a breath of fresh air," he said.

"We thought it was good entertainment," he said. "After all, the quiz shows were not a public utility. We were not conducting civil service examinations. The public wasn't paying any admission prices to watch these programs. Financially, it made no difference to the public who won."

Lied to Protect 'Wonderful People'

Freedman said he denied the show was rigged because he wanted to "protect the private lives of the many wonderful people who were contestants on the show."

"I feel that I had the same relationship to them as the doctor to his patient, as the newspaper man to his news source or the lawyer to his client."

Of the show, Freedman said: "There were times when a certain amount of control was necessary to sustain interest and suspense."

"The quiz shows have been accused of perpetrating a fraud and deception on the public. I do not agree with that accusation. The entertainment field, from time immemorial, has been based on showmanship, spectacle and illusion. The only function of entertainment is to entertain.

"Everyone knows that the magician doesn't saw the lady in half—that movies supposedly filmed in Egypt are actually shot in Hollywood studios."

"Is it any surprise to the movie audience that the stunt men usually do the risky scenes for the Hollywood glamor men?"

"Is it any great shock to learn that important national figures generally hire 'ghost writers' to write their speeches, and in many instances even to write their books?"

'Discrepancies' in Van Doren Evidence

He said there were "significant discrepancies" in the testimony of Charles Van Doren, who told a congressional committee he was fed the answers and coached on mannerisms in winning $120,000 on Freedman's show.

Van Doren testified that he asked to go on the program without help but Freedman told him that giving help to contestants was "part of show business."

"Mr. Van Doren is a strong-minded and intelligent person and it was not necessary to force him into anything," Freedman said in his statement. "He claims that he was deceived. It is interesting to note that it was only at the time he received the subpoena that he came to the conclusion that he had been 'deceived.'"

Freedman was indicted a year ago on charges of having "knowingly lied" while testifying before the grand jury investigating quiz programs. District attorney Frank Hogan said last week that of the 150 or so witnesses at the investigation, probably only 50 told the truth, but so far, Freedman has been indicted.

Narcotics Trafficker Gets 10 Years

MONTREAL (CP)—Giuseppe Pepi Cotroni, who pleaded guilty last month to trafficking in narcotics with a black market value of $8,000,000, today was sentenced to 10 years in penitentiary, fined $60,000 and ordered to return $28,800 to United States federal agents who purchased heroin from him.

Cotroni still faces charges of conspiracy in the heroin case and with possession of stolen bonds from the $10 million robbery in Brockville, Ont. The bond case was scheduled to be heard Nov. 23.

SWIMMER HERO

Men in Sea Screamed For Help

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—"They were in the water, screaming for help, the flames were drifting down on them. No one would go to help them. So I thought 'What the hell?' and dove in."

Phil Olivier, a Houston ambulance driver, said he pulled three men from the water at the stern of the tanker Amoco Virginia, which blew up Sunday and killed seven men.

Still clinging to his damp clothes, which he hadn't had time to change, Phil, a former junior Olympic swimmer and life guard, pointed to the stern of the blackened and broken tanker.

"One man was burned over a terrible amount of his body. Another had a head injury and one had his left side burned."

"They were all in their underclothes. They had been asleep when the fire broke out. They all said 'Thank you' for saving them."

Olivier said flames were spouting from the ship and everyone "kept saying 'She's going to blow any minute.' But no one would do anything. They wouldn't even try to save the men in the water."

Sahara Test No Danger U.S. Claims

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United States indicated today it believes the forthcoming French nuclear test in the Sahara Desert will not endanger neighboring areas.

In a cautiously-worded statement, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told the United Nations political committee that the U.S. carried out similar tests near heavily-populated centres without doing any damage.

Lodge neither endorsed nor opposed the French plan. Britain said earlier the bomb meant no menace to the African peoples.

The Soviet Union, scheduled to enter the debate later today, was expected to join Afro-Asian nations in denouncing the French project.

PORTLAND, Maine (UPI)—Crewmen aboard the New York bound Portuguese cargo ship Monte Brasil battled today to save the ship from a fiery death at sea. The 12 passengers were rescued Sunday but 30 crewmen remained aboard to fight a blaze.

A Portuguese warship reached the site of the 2,395-ton Monte Brasil and a Portuguese navy anti-torpedo vessel

32 CLIMBERS ALL SAFE, NOT KILLED IN SLIDE

KATMANDU (UPI)—The Nepal government announced today that 32 members of a Japanese mountain-climbing team feared killed in an avalanche "are safe and are returning to Katmandu shortly."

The team members were reported en route to this capital city of Nepal with all members in good condition.

The 32 climbers were reported missing while trying to scale the sheer slopes of 23,440-foot Gauri Sankar peak west of Mount Everest in the Himalayas on the Nepal-Tibet border.

Main trouble with the TV scandal is that not everybody thinks it's scandalous.

Both India and China seem ready to repel borders.

Apparently the Pacific rocket is holdin' its nose.

WOBBLE HILL, V.I.—The town authorities are laying plans to discuss the question of fluoridation at the earliest possible date.

Reeve Fadd declined to say whether or not, he, personally, favored the fluoridation issue.

"It is up to the majority of council to decide when, if ever, Wobble Hill should issue fluoridation," he said. "I intend to wait for the majority opinion."

"Also," he added, "if any of the councillors know what fluoridation is and will be kind enough to tell me, I would find it of great assistance in making a ruling of benefit to Wobble Hill as a whole."

"It's bad enough when they keep adding water to the stuff . . ."

DECISION RESERVED ON FLUORIDATION

WALLOPEM BEACH, V.I.—Most citizens of Wallopem Beach applaud the idea of fluoridation across the nation.

But the consensus of opinion is, this isn't the right time to get our teeth into it, this being the off-season, like.

City Doctors Support Fluoridation

Victoria Medical Society unanimously endorses fluoridation of Greater Victoria's water supply, it was announced today prior to a "second look" by Esquimalt council at its decision against a December referendum.

Dr. A. F. McGill, VMS president, said the medical organization had gone on record "as advocating fluoridation" of water.

Esquimalt council previously rejected a proposed fluoridation referendum this year. But Reeve A. C. Wurtelle said the decision would be reconsidered in view of Oak Bay and Saanich councils' actions during referendums and the probability that city council will order a vote too.

SINGLE MAIN

Oak Bay is the only municipality that can fluoridate its water independently because it is served by a single main. Victoria, Saanich and Esquimalt water systems are linked at numerous points, requiring votes and electors' approval in all three municipalities before fluoridation can be introduced.

Few Veterans Hit by CMHC Loan Cutoff

Veterans' Land Act officials said here today last week's federal government order cutting off direct CMHC loans until 1960 will only effect a small number of veterans seeking to build homes on city lots.

They said loans under a section of VLA where a veteran could borrow up to $10,000 to build a home on a city lot will not be available until next year.

"This type of loan came under CMHC," they explained. "We advanced the money for the dwelling and when it was completed, turned it over to CMHC. They paid us back." "It follows that as CMHC has run out of money and can't pay us back, veterans are cut off from this type of home-building loan."

But they added loans for veterans wanting to establish themselves on small holdings of one-and-a-half acres or more are still available.

The majority of veterans are applying for this type of loan, they said.

Hungry Hunter Finds Way Out

Victorian Lost Two Days In Shawnigan Lake Area

A 26-year-old father of three children struggled through dense brush this morning to reach safety after a two-day ordeal without food or warm clothing in the Shawnigan-Renfrew bush country.

Naval Petty Officer Richard Blackman, of HMCS St. Laurent, reached the Port Renfrew Road this morning and flagged down a B.C. Telephone Company truck which drove him to Bear Creek logging camp.

He had been missing since Saturday when he lost his way during a deer-hunting trip.

RCMP officers called off a search by his friends and some 20 shipmates after he arrived at the camp, suffering from scratches, a bad cold and fatigue.

He telephoned his wife at 3124 Stevenson Place to say that he was "tired-but-okay," before starting off on the trip home.

ONLY A SWEATER

An experienced hunter, PO Blackman had no food for two days and shivered through two damp and cold nights with only a sweater to warm him.

He finally found his way out of the bush by following a stream.

The hunting trip began Saturday with a friend, Malcolm Simpson, 28, of Spring Road. After a fruitless day they parted company for a final sweep through the woods at 2 p.m. PO Blackman had no compass.

Three hours later Simpson arrived back at their truck but his companion did not turn up. Simpson drove up and down the road until he ran out of gas. He filled the tank at Bear Creek camp and continued searching alone until after midnight.

POLICE NOTIFIED

At 1:30 a.m. Sunday Mrs. Blackman, alarmed at her husband's absence, notified police that he was missing. One hour later, Simpson phoned his wife to tell her what had happened.

About a dozen friends took up the search for Mr. Blackman on Sunday. They were assisted today by about 20 sailors from PO. Blackman's ship, HMCS St. Laurent.

PO Blackman has been in Victoria for nine years. He and Mrs. Blackman have three young children.

The doctor said Mr. McKinnon would recuperate at home "two or three weeks" and would then be ready for a proposed convalescent trip to England.

By the time he is discharged from St. Joseph's, Mr. McKinnon will have spent almost a month in hospital, following serious injuries sustained in a fall during a water comedy act in the Crystal pool.

Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral made the reference in an Armistice Day sermon, in describing the decline of moral values brought on by war.

He told of two young friends, headed for the priesthood, who were killed on air force duty, and asked: "Did they die to leave the kind of world we have today?"

ASK The TIMES

Q—Will you please tell me the three largest cities in the world, their latest populations suburbs included? M.E.B.

A—Largest city is Tokyo 8,774,638; London, 8,251,900; New York, 7,775,471. Administrative practices vary concerning metropolitan areas, so that while the New York metropolitan area has a population of 14,500,000 and includes northeastern New Jersey—no even in the same state—administration of only half this area population falls on New York.

The same is true for Tokyo. London proper is only one square mile in the city centre so most of the population could, loosely, be described a suburb.

District attorney Frank Hogan said last week that of the 150 or so witnesses at the investigation, probably only 50 told the truth, but so far only Freedman has been indicted.

Van Doren testified that he asked to go on the program without help but that Freedman told him that giving help to contestants was "part of show business."

2 Drowned
In Lake
Up-Island

ALERT BAY (CP) — RCMP reported today the recovery of the bodies of a 39-year-old man and a 12-year-old boy from the waters of Nimkish Lake where they apparently drowned during the week-end.

Police identified the victims as Michael Protosky, 39-year-old employee of the Canadian Forest Products logging operation in the area, and Robert Walker, 12.

Officers said the case was still being investigated.

NORTHEAST COAST

Nimkish Lake is about 40 miles west of this settlement on the northeast coast of Vancouver Island.

RCMP Corporal Gordie Graham, in charge of the RCMP detachment here, left for the scene to investigate after getting word of the drownings from a Canadian Forest Products Company official.

Protosky is survived by his wife Gladys. Police said young Walker was apparently living with Charles Fedoruk in the area. Fedoruk was the boy's next-of-kin but police did not know the relationship.

Uranium
Stocks
Tumble

TORONTO (CP) — Heavy selling hit the uranium section of the stock market today, resulting in big losses by most issues listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Brokers said most losses were caused by "panic selling." They said investors were disappointed by the government's announcement Friday night that it had been unable to get the Atomic Energy Commission of the United States to extend its contract with Canadian producers beyond 1962 and 1963.

The government agreed to allow Canadian producers to defer deliveries until 1966 and receive advance payment on the deferred deliveries.

Stocks of producing uranium companies were the hardest hit. Consolidated Denison lost $2 at $11 on a turnover of 21,000 shares in the first hour.

Other uranium stocks were down as follows: Algon lost $1.75 at $13.50, both trading heavily.

Among lower-priced issues, losses ranged to 30 cents a share but most were confined to 10 or 15 cents.

Organ, Vocal Series Opens At Cathedral

First of a series of organ recitals with assisting artists was presented at Christ Church Cathedral Saturday night.

Organist was Richard Proudman. With him on the program were vocal duettists Margaret Abbott and June Gruber.

The soprano and mezzo voices blended and complemented each other so appealingly that one looks forward to hearing more of this combination in the near future.

Fine qualities of musicianship in addition to superior vocal skill invested their performances of numbers from Pergolesi's "Stabat Mater," Verdi's Requiem and others by Handel, Bach and Bizet.

A particularly fine effect was obtained with the "Die Armer" from Bach's Cantata No. 91, in which the two singers and organ were joined in an obligato by Marie Milburn.

Mr. Proudman, Cathedral organist, again proved himself an accomplished soloist in two Chorale preludes by Bach and a nicely contrasted group by Schumann, Bossi and Peeters.

But it was in the splendid, virtuosic Boellman Toccata that the scope of his technical command was most fully realized, both in registration and fluent pedal work.

This minister of labour is a

“do-it-yourself man!”

No temperamental storm window can defeat this family minister of labour. Leaving the difficult jobs to the professionals, he looks after smaller repair jobs in his home, himself. He's a determined fellow who aims at keeping his family expenditures well within his income at all times.

The Minister of Labour at Ottawa requires millions of dollars to meet departmental expenditures, each year . . . and his department is only one of many.

Money for all departments of government comes through the Minister of Finance who gets it largely in taxes from Canadians such as you. When more money is spent than is collected in taxes, government must borrow from you . . . or else create new money. The creation of new money is one factor that leads to inflation . . . which means your dollar buys less and less.

The government has been spending more than you have been paying in taxes. To narrow the gap between income and expenditures, new taxes have been imposed.

The next step should be to reduce expenditures, or at least hold the line. Undertaking new commitments — adding new welfare or other services — will only make it that much more difficult to pay our way. Tell your M.P. at Ottawa that since you are trying to save, you expect government to do the same.

You also help when you save more by means of life insurance, savings deposits, and the purchase of government bonds. Your savings help to create a SOUND dollar; and this, in turn, helps to create job security for you and more jobs for other Canadians.
